WIDOW GAVE SUIT CASE CLEW

Maynard Woman, Scorned, Gave Auto Number; Former Wollaston Man Is Sought

The Boston American today located the mystery woman who telephoned East Cambridge Courthouse the number of an automobile she said figured in the ghastly Merrimack River suitcase murder, the waters of which have divulged the torso and all but the severed head of a young woman about to become a mother.

The mystery woman is Mrs. Addie Carlton, a widow living at No. 54 Summer street, Maynard.

The license number she gave was 81,400. It was registered in the name of Alonzo Howard, last known to have operated a fish market on Hancock street, Wollaston.

Howard once lived at Mrs. Carlton's home.

The widow fell in love with him. She is approaching sixty years.

One Sunday night in April last police were summone dto her home. Before them she accused Howard of having taken "every penny of the money my dead husband left me."

Her husband had been dead two years eH left her about $5,000. He had operated the Carlton Lunch in the square at Maynard.

BANK LOOTER TO BE HERE TODAY

Joseph Biata, alias Marcino, barber-banker wanted for the looting of the First National Bank in Warren and for other shady financial projects, is due to arrive in Boston today, in custody of United States marshals.

He was arrested at Mexico City recently following a pursuit which took officers to South America and across this continent into Mexico. He came to grief when the Mexican government expelled him following stamp frauds to the sum of 200,000 pesos, the police say.

The specific Warren charge against Marcino is the embezzlement of $213,000 in securities last February.

$100,000 IN FURS ARE STOLEN

Looters of Washington Street Store Cast Aside the Cheap Skins; Take Valuable Ones

Furs totalling in value more than $100,000, and constituting one of the biggest burglary "hauls" in the city in recent years, were stolen from the stock rooms of the S. Silberberg Co., furriers, at No. 661 Washington street, Wednesday night.

Within a short distance from the Lagrange street police station, what is believed to be an expert gang of fur thieves, possessing professional knowledge of skins, combed the entire stock of furs, throwing the skins of lesser value aside, and making a getaway with 3,000 seal pelts, numerous coats priced at $1,000 apiece and an unknown number of neckpieces of silver fox.

AVOID BURGLAR ALARMS.

Burglar alarms planted throughout the warerooms were carefully avoided. The thieves made their way to the fourth floor of the building by fire escapes and secured entrance through a skylight. With carpenters' drills they bored a hole two feet in diameter to the third floor below, where the furs were located, and lowered themselves down.

It is the belief of police that the thieves worked throughout the night, placed their loot on a truck outside the building in the early hours of the morning and escaped before traffic began.

Hyman Silberberg was the last member of the firm to leave the shop, locking it when he left for home at ten minutes of six last evening.

The loss was discovered at 7:30

KOREANS IN TOKIO OPEN REVOLT

Take Advantage of the Quake Disaster to Attack Japs; Fighting in Streets

Moscow, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Dispatches received today from Harbin and Peking says that the Korean revolutionary elements in Japan are taking advantage of the catastrophe and have started armed uprisings in Tokio, where there is fighting in the streets.

Peking, Sept. 6 (AP).—About forty foreigners were killed when the earthquake in Japan destroyed the famous Fuji-Ya Hotel and wiped out the adjacent village of Miyanoshita in the mountainous district of Hakone, according to a Reuter's dispatch from Osaka. There was a volcanic explosion at Kowakidani in the same region. The total number of foreigners killed in the disaster is placed at 500 in Yokohama alone.

Iwaki, Japan, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Japanese Home Office today took the first steps toward attempting to clear up confusion and speculation regarding the actual number of dead and injured in the earthquake and fire at Tokio, when it announced 30,000 were dead, 100,000 injured and 350,000 were homeless.

Colonel Samuel Reber of New York and Major William C. Crane, Jr., language officer of the American Embassy, and Mrs. Crane—all previously reported missing at Tokio—are safe, it was learned today.

The German Foreign Office was advised that Ambassador Solf and his family are safe.

The Japanese nation, stricken by what is probably the greatest disaster of the modern era, today turned bravely to the tremendous tasks ahead, marshalling her shattered resources to succor the hundreds of thousands who suffer from injury

7,000,000 Japanese and Five Big Cities in Path of Quake

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 6 (AP).—A recapitulation of the earthquake and fire area today showed Yokohama as its center, extending north and south about 100 miles and 140 miles east and west, from that city.

This area included 33 counties, five large cities, inhabited by 7,000,000 people, who were caught in the disaster. It is estimated that about 70 per cent. of the cities and towns within the stricken area were destroyed.

ARMED AUTOISTS FIRE PISTOLS

A crowded motor car sped through Scollay square at daybreak today with pistols blazing from both sides of the car.

Special Officers Mullin and Brombach commandeered a machine and gave chase. They halted the speed car at the North Station and arrested the following:

Salvatore Palmasso, Norman street; Gustave Corso, Hale street; Leo Ciessi, Stanford street, Joseph and Salvatore Castellino, Norman street, Guesippe Castellino, Norman street.

All are West End addresses. Two of the men were charged with carrying loaded revolvers. A loaded pistol was also found secreted in the machine. Also two razors.

All were charged with disturbing the peace and the driver of the car with motoring to endanger lives. They were arraigned in Municipal Court.

200 GUESTS FLEE FOR LIVES

Many Have Narrow Escapes as the Hotel Imperial Is Swept by Flames

Narragansett Pier, Sept. 6.—Two hundred Summer colonists at this resort were routed from their beds early today, when the Imperial Hotel, at which they were guests, caught fire.

There was no panic and a few minutes after the fire was discovered every one was safely out of the building, and soon the structure was a roaring mass of flames.

The alarm was given by a member of the coast guard who saw smoke curling from the roof of the building at 4 a. m. The loss was estimated at $500,000, including damage to the Hotel Massassoit and a number of residences which were damaged by heat and water. The servants' quarters of the Massassoit, adjacent to the Imperial, was damaged.

The Imperial Hotel, the largest and most elaborate of the colony, was burned to the ground. The flames are said to have started in remains of the murdered young woman to the Tyngsboro Bridge to find a resting place in the Merrimac waters, is now in her possession.

WOMAN'S TIP LEADS TO TRAIL OF SUITCASE MURDER AUTO

OWNER OF CAR BOARDED WITH MAYNARD WIDOW

Howard bought it while he lived at her home. He lost it when he mortgaged it and was unable to meet his obligation. It is a Chevrolet touring car. The widow discharged the obligation and possesson of the car. During the last six weeks she has learned to run it.

Howard is said to have left Mrs. Carlton for a younger woman.

He is divorced from his former wife, who, with child, lives in A street, Franklin, Mass.

Did Mrs. Carlton involve Howard for revenge?

Police asked that today, as they sought to locate the man whose record in half a dozen New England cities is at the tongue's end of police chiefs.

Howard's sister, Mrs. H. C. Jos[illegible]n of East Kingston, N. H., said she saw the missing man on June [illegible]0 last, when he visited her for four days. He then had his Wollaston fish business. She said he had received letters from Mrs. Carlton from time to time which would bear up the theory that she was a "scorned woman."

WARNED TO KEEP SILENT.

Today, she said, Mrs. Carlton telephoned her "Not to say anything" as police conducted their search.

Howard is about 40 years old. Last Winter his former wife caused his arrest for failure to support their child. The case was settled out of court. The former Mrs. Howard works in a Franklin dry goods store, has in fact since Howard left her more than a decade ago. The missing man has a brother in Franklin, head of the Odd Fellows. He is highly respected.

The chief of police of Exeter, N. H., a short distance from East Kingston, received a letter from a Brooklyn naval man a week ago asking Howard's address and attacking his character.

human bones dug up in Ebypt, bones

Diver Robinson resumed work below Tyngsboro bridge early today. He finished his search of the river bottom under the bridge and for some distance down stream from bank to bank, making a succession of descents that lasted from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m., with an hour for lunch.

MORE MISSING GIRLS.

He has found nothing to date. He finished his second day by exploring the vicinity in which the first suitcase containing torso and arms were found. Today he will search the bottom near where the second suitcase containing the legs was found two miles down stream.

Telephone inquiries and letters sent to the police of Tyngsboro, Lowell and Nashua reveal an amazing number of domestic sorrows due to the disappearance of girls and women.

BODY RE-EXAMINED.

A second and more exhaustive examination of the dismembered parts of the body of the young woman suit-case victim followed secret information received by the State police. Medical Examiner Marshall Alling spent much time scrutinizing the torso and limbs at Lowell.

Late developments have caused the officials working on the case to lean more strongly to the theory that the young woman was the victim of homicide rather than illegal surgery. There are features which make it appear to be a case of wife murder.

POISONING SUSPECTED

No bruises or other marks of violence administered before death appear on the torso, legs or arms, but there is a growing impression that the head if recovered may bear evidence of murderous attack. There is also possibility that the young woman was poisoned.

However, there are factors that dispute the murder hypothesis. The chief one is the skillful manner in which the body was dissected.

Only a person with anatomical and surgical knowledge could have made such clean and confident articulations at the shoulder, hip and knee joints.

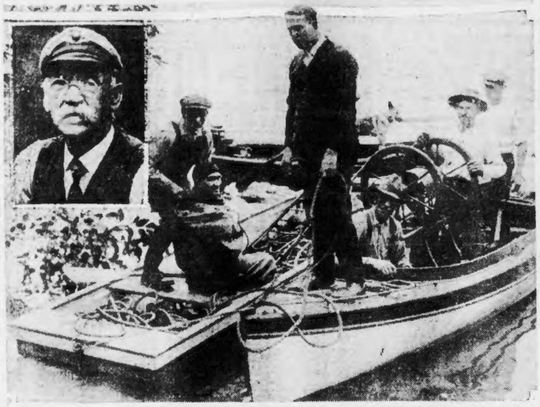
Newspaper photographers were permitted to take pictures of the victim's left arm with the hope that successful reproduction of the two vaccination marks might hasten identification. The lower mark is about as large as a five cent piece and the upper mark is about as half as large and half inch from the larger one.

TAKE FINGER PRINTS.

District-Attorney Arthur K. Reading, who visited the scene again yesterday, gave orders to have finger prints made of the dead woman's hand. State Detectives Stokes and O'Neil made the prints and forwarded them to Roscoe D. Hill of the state department of identification in Boston.

The finger prints were taken on the theory that if an alien or a postal savings depositor, or if she had ever figured in a police court, records might aid in identifying her.

HUNTING DEATH CLEWS IN RIVER



DIVING FOR MISSING HEAD IN MERRIMAC

Driver Robinson preparing to explore the bottom of the Merrimac river, below Tyngsboro bridge, for the missing head of the woman suit case murder victim. Inset, Henry Gray, retired letter carrier, who found remnants of cloth above the bridge that may have been used as a shroud for the victim.

SEEK FIREBUG IN WELLESLEY BLAZE

Fire today in the ice house of the Academy of the Assumption, Oakland street, Wellesley Hills, threatened to spread to the main farm buildings, where valuable stock is housed. The blaze is being investigated by the Wellesley police.

When firemen reached the Academy, in response to a general alarm, they found the ice house ablaze. The building and the ice it contained were destroyed. Firemen believe the blaze was the work of a firebug.

During the school season several hundred students attend the academy. At the present about thirty boys and girls are housed there.

EX-FIANCE'S MOTHER SUED FOR $15,000

Salem, Sept. 6.—Miss Elizabeth Hill of Lawrence has brought suit in the Essex County Superior Court for $15,000 damages against Mrs. Mary Hassey, also of Lawrence. Miss Hill states she was engaged to be married to Philip Hassey, son of the defendant, and that the defendant "enticed him to break the agreement of marriage."

SHREWSBURY GIVEN WATER BY WORCESTER

Worcester, Sept. 6.—For the second time this Summer Worcester has come to the rescue of Shrewsbury, which has been left without adequate water supply owing to the prolonged dry spell. Water is being sent from hydrants on the Worcester side of Lake Quinsigamond across the bridge on Belmont street by means of fire hose.

COUPLE IN TRAGEDY FROM GREATER HUB

Eugene W. Dillon, thirty-three years old, who shot his young wife in Omaha, Tuesday, and then attempted suicide in a fit of jealousy, lived on Washington avenue, Chelsea, up to April. Mrs. Dillon was Miss Amelia Rosemary Brady, daughter of Mrs. Harry Brady of Canton avenue, Milton.

"GIRL-MAN'S" TRIAL FOR MURDER, OCT. 1

Chicago, Sept. 6. — "Freddy" Thompson, the strange "girl-man" accused of the murder of Richard C. Tesmer, will go on trial October 1. "Freddy" smiled coquettishly at Chief Justice John R. Caverly, as his attorney announced the readings of the defence to proceed on that date. The principal evidence against Thompson is his identification by Mrs. Tesmer, widow of the murdered insurance man, as "the girl with the Mona Lisa smile," who fired the fatal shot in connection with a holdup.

MISSING WIFE RESEMBLES VICTIM

In the belief that the dismembered body of the victim in the Tyngsboro suitcase murder is that of Mrs. Corinne Hetu, of No. 65 Astor street, Back Bay, missing since July 24, police are investigating every clew which would disclose the movements of the missing woman since her disappearance.

Mrs. Corinne Hetu

Struck by the similarity of the description of the body given by the police with that of his missing wife, Edward L. Hetu, a sheet iron worker, of the same address, notified the police.

WIFE WAS NURSE

"My wife was 5 feet, three inches tall, weighed about 145 to 150 pounds, with light complexion, brown eyes, and blonde hair. On her left arm she bore a peculiar vaccination mark. Although she was 49 years old, she scarcely looked a day over thirty-five, being of strong, robust build.

"She bore three slight scars on her abdomen, the result of an operation. These scars might be easily overlooked in an examination.

"She was a nurse, graduating from the Rhode Island State Hospital several years ago. She did not practice, until I became sick last year.

"Then she registered in the Nurses' Registry and worked for a Jamaica Plain woman, and a Brookline family

"Shortly afterward she became moody and morose, as though something was troubling her mind. Whether it was another man, a doctor, perhaps, whom she had met, I could not find out.

"On July 24 last she visited her sister, Mrs. Amanda Jacobs, of No. 494 Quincy street, Dorchester. There was something peculiar in her conduct, and her sister questioned her. My wife refused to talk.

GAVE SUICIDE HINT.

"That night, as my wife left her sister, she declared:

"'Amanda, if you do not see me again after this terrible night, look for me, and when you find me, bury me where I'll be forgotten.'

"As she said this she ran from the house. She has not been seen since.

"The next day I learned that she notified the Nurse's Registry that she was going on a business trip for two weeks. Her father, Joseph Boucher, of Woonsocket, R. I., has aided me in the search."

Can a Murderer Ever Escape Punishment?

THE records show that no matter how well a crime is planned and executed there is always a detail of omission or commission which eventually betrays the murderer.

The Tyngsboro River murder seems to be hopelessly a mystery.

There is only one way at this time in which to trace the murderer. That is to find out who the murdered woman is. The killer took the precaution to sever the head.

The only way to trace the identity of the victim is by an exhaustive search for missing women in the New England territory for the past several weeks

On Labor Day the vacation season ended. Most people who went away on trips have returned. Now is the time when missing persons may be traced readily.

The Boston American addresses to its readers a plea for co-operation in the solution of this, the most brutal murder in years which remains unsolved.

If you know of any woman among your relatives, your friends or your acquaintances who is missing, call up the city editor of the Boston American and tell him about it.

Offers Plan to Keep Coolidge Free From Office-Seekers

Washington, Sept. 6.—A committee for the National Civil Service Reform League laid before President Coolidge two recommendations to relieve the Executive from the exhausting importunities of office-seekers. They are:

1—That the President issue an executive order providing for the appointment in each case of the person of the highest grade on civil service eligible lists as presidential postmasters.

2—A similar order to cover fourth-class postmasters and rural carriers.

Nature's Savage War
Wheat Stays Down
Mussolini's Honor
Commercial Rivalry

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company.

YOU LEARN MUCH about earthquakes in the report of Omori, Japanese earthquake specialist, perhaps best informed of all men. Omori predicted this great earthquake and may have lost his life in it. His report, as head of the imperial earthquake investigating committee, is comforting to those that live in New York city, and along the rocky Pacific coast. It appears that serious danger from earthquakes is minimized on rocky lands. The Biblical house "Built on a rock" is safest from earthquakes. This applies to the rocks on which New York stands, and to the rocky coast of the Pacific.

NATURE PROVED in the Japanese typhoon that her war can be more terrible even than man's war. The unfortunate Japanese were attacked by earthquake, fire, tidal waves, new volcanoes bursting out, torrential rains, typhoons, and, worst of all, by dreadful FEAR, afflicting millions.

Oil and gas tanks exploded, bridges collapsed.

Fortunately there is reason to hope that the loss of life may prove less than was feared. But Japan has undergone a shock calling for years of recovery.

THE POWER AND CREDIT of Japan, the confidence of other nations in her people, is proved by Japanese government bonds keeping their place wonderfully well.

THE COUNTRY OUGHT to show sympathy otherwise than by mere charitable contributions of a few millions. Such contributions are all very well as a safety valve for friendly sentiment. But Japan needs and should have help. She has to clothe, feed and provide houses for more than two million homeless and hungry.

She must suppress disorder, keep down anarchy and other violence.

She must rebuild her ruined cities, railroads, telegraphs, bridges, highways, telephones. The loss, even with economical Japanese labor, will amount to more than five thousand millions of dollars.

THE AMERICAN NATION could and ought to help with a most liberal loan, on the most liberal terms, a loan worthy of this nation's wealth and greatness.

A million Japanese, by the way, could easily be found to give their lives rather than fail to pay that debt of honor.

The Japanese are very "old fashioned."

IN JAPAN the usual marvels and miracles accompanying disasters will not be lacking. The biggest statue of the great Buddha has been thrown down. Temples and pagodas dating from ancient times are heaps of ruins.

But here and there a temple or idol will be spared. Shintoists, Confucianists and Buddhists, who represent Japan's religious beliefs, will find proof of the superiority of their religion, and the inferiority of the others.

Even Japanese Socialists, meeting at the time of the earthquake, who escaped without damage, can boast of a near miracle, and perhaps suggest that Zin-Mu—celestial ancestor of the heaven-born Mikados—looks upon them with a favorable eye.

THAT SAME Zin-Mu will approve his descendant, Hirohito, Prince Regent, son and heir of the retired Mikado. Hirohito gives fifty million dollars from his private fortune to the sufferers. No ruler has ever been as generous.

No ruler except the Czar could have afforded such generosity.

WHEAT WAS LOWER yesterday, and the day before. The earthquake leaves thousands in need of food, but that doesn't help the price of wheat. Nations always find money to buy wheat for war, no matter how high the price. They do not spend so easily merely to relieve human suffering.

MUSSOLINI defies the League of Nations, because Italy's HONOR is involved.

Honor is always involved where war is concerned. It was so with us when the Maine was sunk. We would not have welcomed foreign interference then.

THE KAISER sent word that our ships must go only where he said. His submarines would sink them if we didn't obey. That was a matter of honor also—to his sorrow.

IF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS can avert war only where no question of honor exists, the league will not do much. Meanwhile, it is a badly jarred and jolted organization. Even the simplest minded will soon realize that the best thing for the United States to do is to keep out of ANY league that would expect us to force upon others the interference that we should not allow them to force upon us.

ASIDE FROM EARTHQUAKE, war threatening, wheat down, coal up, these are the interesting things. President Coolidge lets it be known that he is no friend of Haig & Haig, and intends to stop bootlegging. That means something for the next election.

"GO GET 'EM" IS DIVORCED BY ACTRESS

HELEN CHADWICK

WILLIAM WELLMAN

MISS CHADWICK DIVORCES HER NEWTON ACE

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—Helene Chadwick, motion picture actress, was granted a divorce from William Wellman, film director, whom she charged with non-support.

Wellman, known as "Go-Get-'Em" Wellman because of his dashing war record and penchant for bringing down Heinie airplanes in France, is the flying hero of Newton. The marriage of the couple, following a wartime romance, created considerable attention.

Early this year there were rumors that the war romance of the Newton ace had been broken.

In this hectic week of earthquake horror and a promise of war it will be good for our souls to turn to the last page of this newspaper and read of the results that are being quietly accomplished by the "Helping Hand." There is a world of pathos in the appeals and a wealth of gratitude in the hearts of those who benefit. Such giving involves little sacrifice, dear reader, yet accomplishes much good.

$2,000 IN ALCOHOL IS SEIZED IN E. BOSTON

Members of the headquarters liquor squad seized a truck laden with alcohol, valued at $2,000, as it was passing along Meridian street, East Boston, and arrested the driver, Pius Prable, twenty-five years old, a grocer of No. 15 Meridian street. The police believe that the liquor was being transported from ships in the harbor when it was seized.

7 ELECTRIC CARS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Providence, R. I., Sept. 6.—Seven electric cars, part of sixty in storage on tracks in the rear of the Mount Pleasant car-barn, when destroyed by a fire of unknown origin that threatened for a time to do extensive damage to all of the cars and surrounding property.

Buses may run on Hanover street in place of cars which were removed by the Elevated about two months ago. SCORNED BY TELLEGEN, GIRL SAYS

Lorna Ambler, Actress, Declares That He Called Her "Babe" and Hugged Her

New York, Sept. 6.—Lorna Ambler, young Australian actress, insists that Lou Tellegen and she were engaged.

She says Lou hugged and kissed her and introduced his friends to her.

Lou's denial of any engagement, as she views it, simply puts her now in the position of being "terribly jilted."

Lou Tellegen

Lorna Ambler

Meanwhile Lou sums it all up in one ungallant assertion that "she should be deported."

Miss Ambler said that when divorce proceedings were started by Farrar, Tellegen suggested she go to England.

"Jack wrote to me in England, advising me to take a trip home to Australia. He wrote to me to wait for him. I waited. But I did not go to Australia. I came back here by way of Canada to force Mr. Tellegen to live up to his word.

"When I got here I telephoned him. He was surprised. His reply was even cooler than his letters.

"He called me Babe and I called him Jack," she went on. "We were devoted to each other.

HUGGED AND KISSED.

"But I went to his theatre that night. Then he was cordial. He said:

"Oh, Babe, it's good to see you again. I am so glad you are back."

"He took me in his arms and introduced me to everyone. He kissed me.

"If a man asked you to wait for him while he was being divorced would you think he meant to marry you, or what? I have worried so that I lost ten pounds."

FEARED PUBLICITY.

Miss Ambler said that Lou often told her, in discussing the divorce, that he was too busy to take the matter up and that Miss Farrar dreaded the publicity that would follow.

When Tellegen was told of the assertions Miss Ambler had made regarding a romance between them he said he never authorized any report of their engagement, that he couldn't be responsible for what others said and that he was not even interested.

Of any engagement Tellegen declared: "I deny everything."

Of Miss Ambler personally he said that, so far as he went, she could start back to Australia on the next boat, adding that she should be deported.

NEW EXCHANGE IS "HIGHLANDS"

Joseph G. Baxter, commercial manager for the telephone company in Roxbury, announces that a new central office, to be called "Highlands," will be established at once in the present Roxbury building. The new central office area will include most of the northerly part of Roxbury.

Until the next directory is delivered in December all new subscribers in this territory will be assigned to the new Highlands office. With the issue of the directory about 1,100 subscribers, now connected and clearly understood, and does not with the Roxbury office, will be transferred to the new office.

MASS IN LONDON FOR PRINCESS ANASTASIA

London, Sept. 6.—A requiem high mass for Princess Anastasia was said today at the little Russian Church of St. Philip. Members of the family, representatives of many of the royal courts of Europe and a large gathering of intimate friends attended.

The floral tributes, which came from all over the world, especially the United States, filled the church.

ITALY TELLS GREEKS TO PAY MORE

Demands 20 Million Lire to Meet Cost of Occupation of Islands

Athens, Sept. 6 (I.N.S.)—The Greek fleet has received orders to retire to the Gulf of Volo to avoid contact with the Italian fleet, it was learned on good authority today.

The Gulf of Volo is approximately 90 miles north of Athens.

Athens, Sept. 6.—Italy today presented to Greece a formal claim for twenty million lire for the cost of military occupation of Corfu, Paxos and Antipaxos.

The Athenian Chamber of Commerce decided to break off commercial and industrial relations not only with Italy but also with all Italian firms in Greece.

Corfu, Sept. 6 (AP).—The Italian occupation authorities have ordered the confiscation of the arms of all nationalities resident here, including members of the Italian colony. British subjects may store their weapons in their own consulate.

This city is quiet and orderly, but the inhabitants are anxiously wondering how long the occupation will last. No Greek ships are arriving or departing, and it is impossible to proceed directly to Athens.

Geneva, Sept. 6 (A.P.).—Efforts of the League of Nations Council to reach some agreement on the Greco-Italian crisis constituted the reason for the sudden decision to hold no session of the Assembly today.

Lord Robert Cecil and other members of the Council desire to go before the Assembly with something definite, for they realize that if the world nations met together as a forum before any tangible results were obtained there would doubtless be a forensic explosion on the floor.

BOY'S SKULL BROKEN IN FALL OFF CLIFF

Leonard Dodge

Leonard Dodge, eleven years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dodge, No. 24 Myrtle street, Waltham, received a fractured skull when he fell forty feet from the cliff near the Boston & Maine Railroad roundhouse in the Roberts district of Waltham.

With Victor Kayos, a fourteen-year-old Boy Scout of Crescent street, Waltham, young Dodge had started a hike over the hills near Waltham. Arriving at the cliff, the climbing of which is considered a test of daring among Waltham boys, he started to ascend the cliff, an almost perpendicular wall of shale and gravel. Kayos went around the cliff.

When within about ten feet of the top, a rock which Dodge had grasped for support, became loosened. Kayos, already at the top and leaning down in an attempt to reach Dodge, nearly lost his balance in a lurch to reach the slipping boy.

Dodge landed on his head in a bed of gravel and shale, forty feet below.

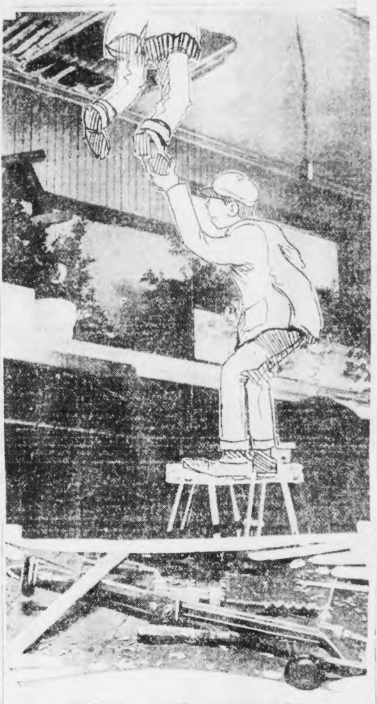
BURGLARS BORED WAY INTO STORE



WORKED LIKE CARPENTERS

Photodiagram of robbers making their way into Silberberg's fur store at No. 660 Washington street early today, and some of the tools they used.

WASHINGTON STREET SHOP ROBBED

this morning when another member of the firm opened up the shop.

A Chinese restaurant occupies the second floor of the building and the fourth floor is rented by the firm of Mason & Jacobs.

SALESMAN LOSES SAMPLES.

Several trunks of newly arrived stock were pried open by the thieves and sorted carefully, the more valuable pieces being removed.

On the fourth floor of the building two carpenters' braces and a dozen bits used for drilling were found by the police, a finding which inclines them to the belief that the robbers took their leave with great haste.

The Silberberg firm comprises Saul and Samuel Silberberg, who have a retail house on Lowell street near the North Station.

Indications that the job had been planned with care some time in advance were found by the police. The office door, which had a Yale lock, was marked with red pencil showing where it should be jimmied. In cutting through the ceiling the robbers were careful to bore their holes between the joists.

Another victim of the thieves was Morris Cohen, a fur salesman, who left two trunks in the store. These were opened and the best of his samples taken.

MOVE AGAINST LABRADOR GOLD COMPANY

The Labrador gold bubble, in which many Bostonians invested, having burst with a rather sickening row, the inevitable prosecution is under way.

Word was received here today from Halifax that Canadian authorities, following an investigation of several months, had found the alleged gold fields worthless, and that court action would follow.

Following last Spring's gold rush to Labrador, an organization, the Labrador Goldfields, Inc., made plans to sell 200 quarter-acre claims to Boston persons at $1,000 each.

Anybody who may have purchased such shares, and who wish further information may address Prosecutor George Winston at Halifax, N. S.

SANFORD, ME., COPS TRAILING BURGLARS

Sanford, Me., Sept. 6.—Town officials, police and sheriffs are excited over evidence of prowlers in the local bank and the Town Hall. The latest development is the discovery that the rear door of the Town Hall had been forced open one night recently. Nothing inside the building, it appeared, was disturbed.

15 ROBBED SHIP OFF BOSTON

Crew of Four Offered No Resistance to Band Making Use of Revolvers

Yarmouth, N. S., Sept. 6.—The story of another raid by rum pirates, off the port of Boston, was brought here by the crew of the schooner Lucille B.

Fifteen pirates boarded the craft and seized the cargo of 1,200 cases of liquor.

The fishing schooner Lucille B. of Belliveau Cove, Digby County, N. S., commanded by Captain Pothier of Wedgeport, Yarmouth County, sailed from Havana on August 15, for St. Pierre with a cargo of 1,200 cases of liquor.

OFF BAY STATE COAST.

When the vessel was off the Massachusetts coast last Wednesday, the captain left the schooner to go ashore in Boston and transact some business.

About 7 o'clock in the evening, while Captain Pothier was still ashore, three boats hauled up alongside of the Lucille B. and fifteen men boarded her.

They covered the crew with revolvers and informed the four men who manned the Lucille B. they had come for the cargo. The men so strongly outnumbered offered no resistance.

A few minutes later the raiders ordered them to join in the transfer of the cargo and all the 1,200 cases were placed on the small boats.

CAPTAIN VANISHES.

After the raiders left the captain of the Lucille B. still failing to put in an appearance, the mate took charge of the schooner and headed for the Nova Scotia coast.

When still several miles from land the last of the fuel oil was spent and the engines stopped, leaving the schooner helpless. Boat men from shore towed the schooner to the Meteghan Breakwater, where the crew gave their statement and where the vessel now lies waiting instructions from Ottawa.

LYNN LABOR MAN THWARTS EVICTION

Norman L. Kelley, Lynn, labor leader, who was scheduled to be evicted from his home, No. 53 Highland avenue, Lynn, thwarted his landlord by having a petition signed by Judge Ralph W. Reeve in the District Court, restraining Constable Eben W. Sears, Jr., from carrying out the eviction.

Kelley, who is the father of seven children, has been unable to secure suitable living quarters. The landlord has been demanding for six months that he and his family vacate.

24 NAVY PLANES DUE IN BOSTON FRIDAY

Newport, Sept. 6.—The aircraft squadron of the scouting fleet, now engaged in maneuvers off Newport will arrive at Boston on Friday morning to participate in the formal opening of the Boston airport. This force is under the command of Captain Walter R. Gherardi and is composed of three tenders, the Wright, Sandpiper and Teal; 12 seven-ton bombing planes and 12 torpedo-carrying seaplanes.

RAILROADS EARN $84,491,000 DURING THE MONTH OF JULY

Washington, Sept. 6.—Railroad earnings during July amounted to $84,491,000, according to an estimate today by the American Railway Association, which was at an annual rate of 4.93 per cent. on their tentative valuation, as fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The earnings were given as the total for 193 roads operating 235,670 miles of the 240,000 total of the country.

The net income for the month compares with $63,1[illegible],000, or 4.12 per cent., for the same month last year, but is a decrease from the estimated rate of 5.47 per cent. in June of this year.

The Eastern group of roads again led in the division of profits shown in July, the total of $47,059,000 being at the annual rate of 5.00 per cent. on investment.

MAN AND WIFE SUE DRUGGIST FOR $15,000

Mrs. Julia M. Wheeler of Dorchester has brought suit for $10,000 damages against Charles O. Cowan, a Dorchester druggist, in the Suffolk Superior Court.

She says the defendant pretended to be skilled in the practice of pharmacy and that he undertook, through his servants and agents, to fill a prescription for her which had been ordered by her physician, but that they carelessly failed to fill the prescription correctly.

It is alleged by Mrs. Wheeler that instead of giving the prescription called for they gave her another substance which when applied to her body caused her severe pain and injury, as a result of which she suffered much pain of body and anguish of mind and has not yet recovered.

Another suit for $5,000 damages has been brought by her husband, Henry M. Wheeler, against Mr. Cowan, practically the same charges being made as in his wife's suit.

Syracuse, (I.N.S.)—Driving into the path of a train in a dense fog, Charles Lusia, and Miss Edna Clarquist were killed.

GIRL OF 16 AND YOUTH ARE MURDERED

Port Arthur, Tex., Sept. 6 (I.N.S.)—Hidden in a patch of underbrush on a lonely road on the outskirts of the city, the bodies of Bessie Carl, sixteen years old, and her companion, T. O. Rial, twenty-two years old, were found.

Rial and the schoolgirl have been missing since Saturday. They had been dead two days, physicians declared.

Searchers declared the bodies had been placed in the underbrush recently, as they had frequently examined the spot during their search on previous days. Rial's automobile was found about three miles away and the authorities are of the opinion that the couple was slain there and their bodies removed to the brush pile in an attempt to cover up the crime.

BODIES STRIPPED.

Both bodies were stripped of their clothing and the girl had been attacked before she was killed, physicians declared. Miss Carl's diamond ring was found in the tonneau of the Rial automobile and there were evidences of a struggle. It is believed she offered her jewelry to the unknown assailant to protect her honor after her companion had been shot and killed. Miss Carl's head was crushed.

NEGRO SUSPECTED

A negro suspect is being sought by the authorities, and precautions are being taken to prevent mob violence in the event he is apprehended.

Miss Carl was the daugher of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Carl of Houston, Texas, and had been viting friends and relatives in Port Arar.

Saturday night she companied Rial to a picture show in Beaumont. It was the last time the couple was seen alive.

Blames French for "Sinful" America

Paris, Sept. 6.—The French people are furious over an interview given by Bishop Cannon of the Southern Methodist Church.

"Paris is the wickedest city in the world," said the bishop, "and I am convinced that the present epidemic of 'loose living' and general sinfulness in America is directly due to the association of American troops with the French during the war."

26-INCH PICKEEL CAUGHTON CAPE

Orleans, Sept. 5—The largest pickerel caught on the cape for many years was pulled in from one of the ponds of So. Orleans by Cecil P. Marble of Gacy.

The fish weighed 6 pounds and measured 26 inches long. It was pronounced by fish experts as being at least 25 years old.

PETITION FOR PRISON REFORM LAW FILED

An initiative petition for a law calling for the examination, classification and specialized treatment of prisoners of County Jails and Houses of Correction was filed with Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook by the Massachusetts Civic League.

The petition, which is the opening shot in a campaign for prison reform, asks for the examination as to the physical, mental, and social history of all prisoners.

The examinations are to be made by a State psychiatrist and such assistants as may be necessary. After the examinations the prisoners are to be classified and transferred to institutions fitted for their special needs, to be provided by the State and counties.

The petition will be completed when 20,000 names of registered voters are obtained before the first Wednesday in December. Among those who have signed the petition thus far are Mrs. Joseph H. Atwill of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird of Walpole, Professor George B. Churchill of Amherst, President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, Dr. Kendall Emerson of Worcester, Bishop William Lawrence, Rabbi Harry Levi, Joseph Lee, Horace A. Moses of Springfield, and Senator David I. Walsh.

FOOD QUERY DEPARTMENT
YOUR FOOD PURCHASING DIFFICULTIES SOLVED

— A THURSDAY FEATURE —

Are you at a loss as to where you can secure some particular brand or kind of foodstuffs? If so, write the Boston American Food Query Editor. We will answer your inquiry in these columns as quickly as possible.

Food Query Editor:

Have you ever heard of a "Finest" brand of ham? I think this ham is very well named, as it is as fine a cured piece of meat as I have ever tasted—sweet and tender. The hotel we stopped at this summer in the mountains used this kind of hams, and I would be greatly obliged if you could tell me where I could purchase them here in Boston. I would also like to know the name of the concern who put up this particular kind of brand. Thanking you.

MRS. B. K. P.

Needham, Mass.

The Independent Packing Co. in Chicago puts up the Finest brand of hams and you could purchase same at the Mohawk Packing Co., No. 82 North street, Boston.

Food Query Editor:

Have been visiting in Maine all summer, and my friend used an oleomargarine by the name of Nucoa Nut Margarine. I really think it is every bit as good as a lot of butter we have been buying and surely it is much cheaper. I would appreciate your telling me through your column where I could buy the above kind of oleomargarine in Boston. Thanking you for any information you may give me, I remain,

MRS. L. G. E.

Dorchester, Mass.

You can buy Nucoa Nut Margarine Coco Nut brand, put up by the Better Foods ProductsCo., Jersey City, in any of the E. E. Gray stores, or the Upham's Cor. Mkt., Upham's Cor., Dorchester.

Food Query Editor:

I have at various times tried many brands of Norwegian smoked sardines, but I prefer a Golden Net brand known as Cross Pack. I wonder if you would be so good as to let me know through your interesting columns where this particular kind of sardines could be secured around Boston.

MRS. L. W. T.

Somerville, Mass.

Cross Pack Golden Net brand of smoked Norwegian sardines in pure olive oil, packed for the Austin Nichols & Co., New York, can be purchased at any of the Arthur E. Dorr stores.

Food Query Editor:

In regards to Welch's Grape Goods. Could you please inform me where, in Boston, I can purchase Welch's pineapple lade, strawberry lade, cherry lade, peach lade, and blackberry lade, and any of the goods such as I have written on this paper. Now, John T. Connor stores do not carry any of these articles that I have written in this letter. Please answer through your evening newspaper.

H. J. A. J.

So. Boston, Mass.

We understand from the Welch's Grape Juice people that they had discontinued making shipments on lades for over six months, but have just started in again to make deliveries on these goods. If your retail store should not carry them, they can secure them from the following wholesale grocers: Wm. M. Flanders, India street; J. W. Roberts, No. 36 Commerce street; Haskell-Adams Co., No. 5 Commercial street.

Food Query Editor:

I would be greatly obliged if you could inform me through your column where I could buy Flageolets, in other words, this is a dried French lima bean put up in packages. I have bought them in New York, but have not been able to locate a store here in Boston that handles these goods in packages. To my way of thinking, this is the only way to buy lima beans for a small family. Thanking you, I remain,

MRS. P. C. D.

Newton, Mass.

You can buy dried Flageolets (French lima beans) in packages at John Gilbert, Jr., Co., No. 126 Boylston street, Boston.

Food Query Editor:

Would you kindly tell me where I could buy Demarara Sugar, and if you know of any dealer in this city that sells it. Thanking you in advance.

F. R.

Lowell, Mass.

We have never heard of Demarara sugar. We have made inquiries about this grade of sugar from two or three of the large refiners, but they, up to the present time, have not been able to give us any definite information. If we should later get a line on the above product we will be glad to give you said information through our column.

40 GAIN FIRST HONOR LIST AT HARVARD

Out of an enrollment of 2,179 students at Harvard forty have been able to complete the past academic year with "highest distinction," and have had their names placed in the first group of scholars.

This became known with the publication of the "Rank List," which contained the names of nearly 2,000 undergraduates who have satisfied the college authorities of their right to promotion.

Group two, made up of "high distinction" students, was composed of 109 men, while group three, rated as "distinction" students, was made up of 243. Two hundred and eight men failed to satisfy the requirements for promotion, and 123 men, with unsatisfactory records, left the college before it closed in June.

Enrolled in the first group of students are Henry T. Dunker of Davenport, Ia., track and football star, and Robert L. Hyatt, Jr., of Monticello, Ark., high jumper. Herbert P. Curtis of Boston, who played freshman football in 1921, is also on the list.

The junior class has the best per[illegible]tage in the first four groups; [illegible]nteen of its members being represented among the leading forty scholars, and thirty-seven among those ranked as the second group scholars.

EDUCATOR DEPLORES EFFECT OF 'YES, WE HAVE NO BANANAS'

TOO MUCH JAZZ BANE OF YOUTH

Dr. Neumann Urges Higher Cultural Standards, Raps "Subway Manners"

Bridgewater, Sept. 6.—The youth of America must be educated to an appreciation of something higher than "Yes, We Have No Bananas," Dr. Henry Neumann of the Ethical Culture School of New York told the sixth annual conference of State normal teachers in convention day.

educator was discussing the onal needs of youth and cited ing, because he had heard s of young people all over the ry singing it no less than ten in succession.

ch exhibition of "unpromising alities are not going to give erica what she needs," he de ged.

O MUCH JAZZ.

"We must give them something better so they can understand how pathetic and stupid such noise is. It is the task of the schools to instill the finer things in them."

Making this task the more difficult, he stated, is the "jazz" spirit and the "jazz" songs which are sweeping the country.

The doctor also decried the practice of applying powder and rouge in public "which has grown up in America because the generation of today believes such practices are a sign of equality."

"Subway manners" was another indictment returned by the doctor against Young America. Chinese manners were held up as the most formal in the world by him and while he would not advocate their adoption he recommended that a be taught about them as a

RIES IRREVERENCE.

e must give our children ica's best, plus the best of every try. That is why I suggest the of China's age old experience. Chinese boy would greet one of revered priests as does the nerican boy. Our tommy would ink it no amiss to greet a bishop, 'Howdy, Bish!'

"Too many children grow up and o know what fine people their fathers and mothers are, all because from early experience they have never been taught to interpret their experiences."

More than 200 educators from all parts of the country as well as the State, gathered to attend the session, among the speakers being Dr. Payson Smith, State Commissioner of Massachusetts, and Dr. Charles H. Judd, director of the School of Education of the University of Chicago, who in a long address declared history is the worst taught subject in the curriculum today.

HUB GIRL "RIVAL" OF LUTHER BURBANK

EDNA HOERING

Jamaica Plain girl and the Easter lily she has raised in her garden months out of season

It is a long time since Easter. Most of us have long since watched our lily plants wilt and die and discarded them.

Not so with little Miss Edna Hoering. Miss Hoering is 10 years old and lives at No. 258 Center street, Jamaica Plain. When her Easter lily died, this girl just couldn't part with it. So she took the remains into the garden and there planted them.

And then came the surprise. Edna went out to the garden recently to look over the plants which weren't doing so well. The sight of her plant, in all its pristine glory, at the height of bloom, confronted her.

Miss Hoering is daily expecting to hear from Luther Burbank.

HUB A FAVORITE FOR NEXT G.A.R. CONVENTION

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6. (A.P.)—Election of officers late today held the attention of the members of the National G. A. R., who are assembled here.

Three candidates are in the field for election as commander-in-chief to succeed James W. Willett, sentiment swinging strongly in favor of Gaylord M. Saltzgaber, of Ohio. He is opposed for the office by Frank A. Walsh of Milwaukee and Dr. L. F. Arensberger of Uniontown, Pa.

Second only in interest to the election of officers is the selection of the encampment city for 1924, with Boston and Pasadena bidding for the honor. Indications are that Boston will be the choice.

Retiring Commander-in-Chief Willett in concluding the report of his stewardship, suggested reduction rather than increase in the auxiliary organizations, urged changing the name of the Sons of Veterans, and commented upon the death during the year of 20,000 members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The membership of the Department of Arizona has dwindled to forty comrades, scattered all over the State, said the commander.

SIX FAMILIES FLEE BLAZE IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Sept. 6.—Six families were driven to the street at 1 o'clock today when smoke from a first-floor fire filled the tenement dwelling at No. 28 [illegible] street. The fire started in a woodshed and was speedily extinguished. Police are investigating its origin.

MAILMEN ASK POLITICAL BAN BE LIFTED

Providence, R. I., Sept. 6.—A campaign to secure equal political rights for postal employes was started at the convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers here.

The action came in the form of a resolution empowering its officers to use efforts to have rescinded the postoffice department order forbidding its workers to mingle in politics.

The convention also condemned the postal efficiency rule, and recommended the substitution of the honor system.

The body also passed a resolution condemning letter boxes in most dwellings in the larger cities, and urged that the postoffice department be given jurisdiction over all such receptacles.

No delivery of mail on Christmas, the making of Armistice Day a national holiday, and efforts to include State and local holidays among those recognized as compensatory holidays were also advocated.

Other resolutions adopted advocated commendation of former Postmaster General Will H. Hays for his "humanizing policy," commendation of "no-overtime" order of the department, legislation to limit the weight to be carried by mail men to 40 pounds; endorsement of the "mail early" campaign, legislation to exempt the salaries of postal employes from the income tax; limitation of employes' liability on loss of registered mail; salary in advance for vacations, weekly, instead of bi-weekly payments of salaries; a plainer and uniform system for addressing newspapers and other publications sent by mail; a government sanitorium for postal employes suffering accident or disease and instruction to hospitals and similar institutions to fumigate packages from patients with contagious diseases.

BAN LIFTED ON ALIENS, SHIPS FINED $400,000

Washington, Sept. 6.—The large batch of immigrants who were brought across the line into the United States by racing steamers a few minutes before the stroke of midnight of August 31, were saved from deportation by order of Secretary of Labor Davis.

All of the immigrants who comply with other requirements for admission will be permitted to enter on the same status as if their steamers had made port after midnight. The steamers, however, will be assessed heavy fines for failure to observe the law.

It is understood that the steamship companies will be fined $200 per head for each immigrant brought in before midnight. As there are some 2,000 immigrants involved, the total fine will be in the neighborhood of $400,000.

ARREST POLITICIAN IN DOUBLE CRASH

George J. Stone, of No. 12 Davis road, Revere, prominent Revere politician and electrician, was arrested in Chelsea, charged with drunkenness and driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor after his car had collided with another automobile and a junk team.

Stone was accompanied by his three children, one of whom was injured slightly.

INSURANCE MAN IS FOUND DEAD

Frederick Clegg, fifty-three years old, of No. 46 Bay State avenue, West Somerville, employed by the Travellers' Insurance Company, No. 141 Milk street, was found dead in a toilet room in the building where he is employed by Thomas L'Estrange and Charles M. Ackroyd, also employed at No. 141 Milk street.

Dr. William A. Bishop said death was probably due to natural causes.

SHARKS IN ATTACK ON CAPTIVE MONSTER

Miami, Fla., Sept. 6.—The 40,000 pound rhynodon typus, known as a whale shark, caught recently by a party of fishermen, was saved to science only after a two-hour fight with a school of forty tiger sharks while the tug was towing the fish to Key West, where representatives of the American Museum of Natural History of New York will save the somewhat damaged monster for study and classification.

JAMAICA PLAIN BOY BADLY HURT BY AUTO

David Dickson, eight years old, of No. 38 Rockview street, Jamaica Plain, was struck by an automobile operated by Lawrence W. Riley at Robinwood avenue and Rockview street, Jamaica Plain, while riding on a tricycle. He is at the City Hospital suffering from numerous cuts and bruises.

APE GLANDS SHORTEN LIFE, DOCTOR WARNS

OLD MEN SPURRED TO DEATH

"Rejuvenation" Inspires Exertion Beyond Their Strength, Expert Says

Paris, Sept. 6.—Following the death of Arthur Evelyn Liardet in London, two years after a monkey gland was grafted upon him by Sergius Voronoff, Professor Louis Sunday, nerve specialist, announced that experiments he had conducted have demonstrated that gland operations, instead of prolonging life, inevitably shorten it.

He admitted, however, that the gland transplantaton might give a temporary renewal of youthful vitality.

"Gland rejuvenation may be compared to the action of drugs or alcohol, which also temporarily renew vitality," said Professor Sunday.

"In a minor, but nevertheless inevitable regree, gland transferrence speeds up the mental action but neglects to strengthen the heart and lungs with the result that 'rejuventation' spurs old men to undertake muscular and mental efforts which the weakened physical constitution is unable to withstand.

"Eventually the effect of the stimulant wears off, with the result that the whole system crashes. If the patient does not die, then he is invariably weaker and more decrepit than before the operation."

Professor Voronoff was abesnt from Paris and could not be located, but Sunday's statement came as a bombshell to the more than 100 of "young old men," who have submitted to the monkey-gland operation here within the last two years.

ESCAPED MANIAC CHASES CADDIES MILE

Hingham police are searching for a man, believed to have escaped from the Taunton Insane Asylum, who terrorized caddies on the South Shore Country Club golf links at Hingham and chased two of them more than a mile when they went into the woods near the links to search for lost balls. Gordon Murray, thirteen years old, No. 57 Baxter street, and John Doherty, fifteen years old, South street, both of Hingham, were surprised in the woods, and made their escape only after a chase of more than a mile through the woods. The man is described as being tall, dark complexioned, with black hair, moustache and beard, and wearing dark clothes.

54-DAY GASOLINE SUPPLY ON HAND

Washington, Sept. 6.—Gasoline stocks on hand at refineries in the United States on Aug. 1 amounted to 1,165,389,340 gallons, constituting 54 days' supply at the July rate of consumption, according to figures of the Interior Department. On Aug. 1, 1922, gasoline in storage was sufficient to supply the demand for 43 days.

ANTI-BURGLARY HEAD ARRESTED

Frank A. Bell, forty-five years old, of No. 14 Lowell street, president of the Merchants' Protective Association, forgot his duties as an official of a burglary protective association, the police allege, long enough to loot a fur store at No. 8 Lowell street, West End, aided, it is charged, by Christie Sheraff, thirty-four years old, of No. 34 Winter street, East Cambridge.

The pair, it is alleged, took advantage of the excitement of a fire in a house near the fur store to smash a plate glass window and steal a ladies' fur coat valued at $75. The police recovered the coat at Bell's home.

Bell was arrested when the police learned he had been near the store at the time of the burglary. His confession, the police say, led to the arrest of Sheraff as his accomplice. The fur store is owned by Benjamin Silverstein.

Shoe Styles Change So Fast Dealers Can't Keep Up

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Too frequent changes in footwear were deplored in resolutions adopted by the New York State Shoe Retailers' Association Convention here.

Some dealers reported ordering shoes and having them go out of style before arriving.

It was recommended by the Association that the National tanners, wholesalers and retailers in footwear put into effect a plan to control styles and save the trade great loss of money.

'MISS FLORIDA' IS NAMED IN SUIT

Washington, Sept. 6.—Miss Katherine Newton, sometimes known as Miss Katherine Kyle of Miami, who is "Miss Florida" at the beauty pageant now being held at Atlantic City, was named as co-respondent in a suit for divorce, filed in the District of Columbia supreme court by Mrs. Grace K. Ross against Dr. George J. Ross, a dentist.

Mrs. Ross filed suit once before against her husband and was awarded $125 a month for maintenance. Dr. Ross at that time made serious counter-charges against his wife, but the record does not show that these charges were proved. The wife alleges that the misconduct occurred at Miami last month.

Lie Costs Elevator Girl $10 Fine and She Loses Divorce

Akron, Sept. 6.—There are many ups and downs in the life of an elevator girl, but it doesn't pay any of them to tell fibs in court, as gay Kathlena Horne confessed she did before Judge H. C. Spicer.

Kathlena, twenty-seven, seeking a divorce, told the judge she had no other man and had no idea of being wedded again if divorced.

Her husband, present in court, told the judge his wife was not telling the truth. Finally the woman admitted writing a love letter to another man.

The judge fined her $10 for contempt of court and refused to grant the divorce.

RELIEF SHIPS ARE TAKING FIRST AID TO STARVING QUAKE VICTIMS

TOKIO DEAD PLACED AT 30,000

Official Figures Given Out by Government; American Death List Grows

[illegible] from hunger and lasting [illegible] and [illegible] for the rebuilding of her plans [illegible] ruined cities.

While the rest of the world hurries its ships of war and commerce laden with relief supplies, to deep [illegible] waters, Premier Yamamoto [illegible] broadcasted a message to his [illegible] urging them to unite in the hours through which they are passing and appealing to [illegible] to make a supreme effort to relieve the suffering and expedite the work of reconstruction.

[illegible] cables say that already orders for building materials have been placed in England, while leading construction engineers and architects in New York have proffered their assistance in making a new Japan.

CITY OF DESOLATION.

Yokohama is a city of desolation, far more severely smitten than is the capital, Tokio. A message received from Kobe at the State Department in Washington confirms previous word that the great port of Japan has been completely destroyed, with a tremendous loss of life, including Americans.

The city's streets and canals are filled with dead everywhere. Throughout the stricken area the authorities are trying to meet the two immediate needs of the situation: care for the wounded and food for the hungry.

Supplies of rice are being requisitioned throughout the empire, while engineers, working with makeshift forces repair the railways to rush the food to the starving.

Apparently there are no reports of disorder, although there is some plundering and looting. General Fukuda is determined to quiet the population of the capital as quickly as possible in order that martial law may be revoked.

SHIPS ARRIVE WITH AID.

The organization of relief work throughout the rest of the world proceeds rapidly, and already the United States has been of material assistance. The American Destroyer [illegible] arrived in Kobe yesterday with supplies, followed soon after by the Shipping Board steamer City of Spokane, which carries for Yokohama [illegible] with 5,000 tons of flour.

Many other American owned vessels are either taking on cargoes of relief supplies at Pacific Coast ports or are on their way to Japan. In San Francisco some five Shipping Board steamers are being fitted out as relief ships.

America's response to the call for assistance has been immediate, and from all parts of the country come announcements of gifts in money and kind. A group of lumber exporting mills on the Pacific Coast are to donate 15,000,000 feet of timber to the Japanese government.

ONLY FOUR HOUSES LEFT.

A dispatch from the Tokio correspondent of the Central News received in London says that 300,000 are dead in that city, but the correspondent of the Associated Press in a dispatch filed on Tuesday puts the number at 30,000, including 200 foreigners.

One dispatch says that only three or four houses have been spared. The harbor is practically of no value to the relief ships, for the floor has been raised, the breakwaters

Five [illegible] foreigners are said to have been killed in Yokohama.

Americans Reported Dead in Earthquake

Washington, Sept. 6.—Five hundred foreigners, including many Americans, were killed in Yokohama, according to a dispatch to the State Department today.

The Americans dead included: Bess and Richard Mansell of Cleveland; Elizabeth Dodson of Kingston, N. Y.; Lieut.-Col. Charles Burnett, American military attache at Tokio; W. T. Blume of the General Electric Co.; Captain MacDonald of the Grand Hotel, Mrs. Root and son, Max D. Kirjassoff, the American consul; Chief Pharmacist L. Zembsch of the United States Naval Hospital and his wife and two children.

Other Americans reported lost are: Dr. W. S. Worden, resident naval [illegible] of the American consulate, Yokohama; Dr. Gilmore Smith, dentist; Paul Cannon, M. E. Angelia and J. L. Gleason.

ANXIOUS OVER FATE OF DR. WORCESTER

Swedenborgians of Greater Boston are anxious over the safety of the president of their national convention, Rev. William L. Worcester, D. D., of Cambridge, who sailed from [illegible] for Japan shortly before the earthquake and tidal wave. He was en route to call upon Rev. Isamu L. Watanabe, as Tokyo pastor of the only New Church [illegible] in Japan. Pastor Watanabe was educated at Cambridge Theological School, of which Dr. Worcester is dean and left America two years ago for his work in Japan. His name does not appear on the list of survivors sent out.

Rev. Isamu L. Watanabe.

STATE AND CITY ORGANIZING FOR RELIEF

Massachusetts took action to whip the State into a concerted and organized effort seeking relief for the devastated areas of Japan.

One hundred of the State's leading citizens met Governor Cox in the executive offices at the State House this morning and organized a committee to assist the Red Cross in raising funds for the earthquake sufferers.

The Boston City Council passed a resolution framed by Mayor Curley expressing the sympathy of Boston for the Japanese. Action on a $10,000 appropriation recommended by the Mayor is still pending.

In the meantime the New England Division headquarters of the Red Cross set in motion its machinery for the collection of funds towards the $5,000,000 national goal fixed by Red Cross headquarters in Washington.

NEW ENGLAND QUOTA.

The total quota fixed for New England, according to a statement issued by Arthur G. Rotch, division manager, is $350,000. Of that sum Massachusetts is asked to contribute $225,000. Maine is asked for $30,000. The quota fixed for New Hampshire is $15,000; Vermont $10,000 and Rhode Island $40,000.

The whole mechanism of Red Cross campaigning during the war is being revived in the present emergency.

Another appeal by the Boston Chamber of Commerce is now in progress of being phrased, and is expected to be issued today by W. Irving Bullard, vice-president of the Chamber.

STUDENTS DESTITUTE.

The Japan Society of Boston also increased its energies for the relief of the Japanese, concentrating for the time being on local Japanese students whose wealth, it became known yesterday, is now thoroughly wiped out as a direct result of the disaster. These young men are virtually stranded in Boston.

One of the first prompt replies to the Red Cross appeal came in a telegram from Payson Smith, Massachusetts State Commissioner of Education, that the Normal School teachers of Massachusetts in conference at Bridgewater are forwarding a check for $260 as their contribution to the Japanese earthquake relief.

WALTHAM GIRL IN QUAKE ZONE SAFE

Miss Dorothy Latham, twenty-three years old, No. 41 Banks street, Waltham, reported killed in the Japanese earthquake disaster, is safe aboard the steamship President Madison of the United States Shipping Board lines.

Dorothy Latham

Relatives in Waltham received a cable from Miss Latham via the offices of the Admiral Oriental Steamship Line in Seattle, Washington, stating that the President Madison is outside the danger zone and is serving as a relief ship. At the time of the earthquake and tidal wave the President Madison was between Yokohama and Kobe, Japan.

Miss Latham is en route to the Philippine Islands, where she will teach in a missionary school. She was graduated from the Waltham High School in 1917 and from [illegible] University in 1921.

FALL RIVER GIRL IN DANGER ZONE

Fall River, Sept. 6.—Great anxiety is felt by Mrs. Emma E. Crosby, No. 967 Robeson street, for the safety of her daughter, Miss Amy Crosby, who has been living in Tokio for the past eleven years where she is serving as a kindergarten teacher under the direction of the American Baptist Society.

Victim of Quake

PRINCESS KUNI.

Member of Japanese royalty feared lost in earthquake. She was engaged to marry Prince Regent in October.

MAN DROPS DEAD ON NANTASKET BOAT

Ezra P. Webber of No. 18 Crawford street, Lawrence, died of heart failure on the Nantasket steamboat Mayflower at Rowe's wharf. He was forty years old and married.

PRINCESS KUNI BELIEVED LOST IN DISASTER

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—Princess Nagako Kuni, petite Satsuma princess who was to have wed the Prince Regent in October, may be among the members of Japanese nobility whose lives were snuffed out in the earthquake, it was feared in the Japanese colony here today. No member of the Princess' family has been mentioned in dispatches to date.

Prince [illegible] of the House of Kancho was killed in a train tunnel near Yokosuka during a cave-in caused by the earthquake, according to wireless dispatches from Japan.

It is also reported that Dowager Princess Kuni was burned to death at Kamakura, and that Princess Hiroko Kanin was crushed to death in the family villa at Odawara. It was stated that Prince Kanin, who was also at Odawara, is missing.

Reports confirm the death of Prince Tadashige Shimazu, head of the Satsuma Clan. He was crushed to death in his villa at Oiso. Prince Matsukata, one of the principal Genro, or elder statesmen, also died in the disaster.

Lieut.-Col. Hazard Listed Among Missing

Lieutenant-Colonel Clive M. P. Hazard is one of the four missing U. S. army officers stationed at Tokio. At the army headquarters, South Boston, he is well-known, having served as chief of staff under General M. L. Hersey, when in command of the Fourth Division during the World War. He was assigned with other officers to learn the Japanese language and its different dialects at Tokio.

Colonel Hazard was the right hand man of General Funston in his capture of Aguinaldo, and planned the disguise which led to the capture of this leader.

Yamamoto Urges Japs to Unite in Relief Work

Nagasaki, Sept. 6. (A.P.)—The first public utterance of Premier Yamamoto, sent broadcast by wireless, appeals to the people of Japan to unite in the trying hours through which they are passing and make a supreme effort to relieve the sufferers from the earthquake and help on the work of reconstruction.

FITCHBURG GIRL AND HUSBAND KILLED IN QUAKE

band, Max D. Kirjassoff, acting United States Consul in Yokohama, are reported killed in the Japanese earthquake.

Mrs. Kirjasoff was born in India thirty-three years ago, a daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William O. Ballantine, widely known missionaries. She was graduate from Cushing Academy, Ashburnham, in 1907, and from Mt. Holyoke College in 1913.

Miss Ballantine met her future husband through her brother, Joseph W. Ballantine, a Consul in Japan, where Kirjassoff was a Consular Attache. The couple were married at Rahuri, India, the home of the bride's parents, in 1914.

While in Japan, Mrs. Kirjassofyf was a frequent contributor to the National Geographic Magazine.

According to dispatches from Washington, William, six years old, and David, four years old, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Kirjassoff, were not killed in the disaster.

Mr. Kirjassoff was graduated from Yale University, where he was prominent in athletics. He was decorated by the King of Sweden for training Swedish athletes for the Olympic games held in that country.

Mrs. Kirjasoff's parents, in the United States on furlough, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Perkins at Nantasket. In addition to her parents, Mrs. Kirjassoff is survived by four brothers: Joseph, United States Consul at Darien, Japan; Benjamin, of Fitchburg; Henry, of Wallingford, Ct.; and John, of Chicago.

OPERATORS MAY YIELD ON MINE ARBITRATION

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 6. (A.P.)—Leaders of the miners' union and anthracite operators, whose differences have led to a general suspension of mining, had some new ground to go over, but still exhibited marked difference in views when Gov. Pinchot reassembled them today in the course of his peace effort.

Tentative agreements on the part of the employers' group to drop the stand for arbitration, which has been upheld since the inception of negotiations, were understood to be in the Governor's hands as a result of the executive sessions.

MINERS WOULD LIMIT DUES.

Miners' union officials, too, had in some degree moderated the original scope of their organization's demands, by agreeing that a 10 per cent. wage increase for contract miners might do.

They continued, however, to ask more for the day workers, who constitute the bulk of anthracite employes, and to this the operators were unwilling to accede.

The union likewise tentatively offered to limit the amount of dues to be assessed against its members if the operators would agree to collect dues by the "check off" method of holding the amounts involved out of each individual miner's pay check.

BASED ON PINCHOT PLAN.

The tentative offers were all based on the original peace proposals of the Governor, which included a 10 per cent. flat increase in wages for all anthracite workers, abolition of all but eight-hour employment, recognition of the union and of the principles of collective bargaining, and dropping of the "check off" demand by the union in exchange for an agreement by operators to let union agents collect dues in company offices on pay days.

'MISS BOSTON' LEADS IN BEAUTY POINTS AT ALL-NATION PAGEANT

WINNER TO BE PICKED FROM FIVE

"Miss Cambridge" Has High Rating in "Miss America" Contest

Atlantic City, Sept. 6.—A group of distinguished artists reviewing the collection of beautiful girls from all parts of the country attending the famed beauty meet here today said the contest had simmered down to five girls, with "Peggy" Black, "Miss Boston," having the best chance of being selected as "Miss America."

Poise and a charm that is distinguishing, they said, made "Miss Boston" a possible winner.

Which will be good news to Bostonians who have followed the contest as run by the AMERICAN, whose judges selected Miss Black as best representing the traditions of the "Athens of America."

HAIL KING NEPTUNE.

King Neptune arrived at the shore as "Miss Boston," and "Miss Cambridge," Doris George, and 73 other beauties formed a court to greet him.

Following the royal ceremonies, "Miss Boston," with nine other members of the "Nation's Beauty Court," boarded the yacht Enchantress and spent a delightful two hours cruising about the inlet waters.

Sailors lined the rail of the U. S. destroyer and shouted for "Miss Boston" to step to the front of the yacht. Instructed by Captain Clark, "Miss Boston" wigwagged the word "Greetings" and received a hearty cheer from the "gobs."

"Miss Boston" wore a sport costume of white and orange that excited admiration of feminine passengers aboard the yacht.

THE CHAIR PARADE.

Captain Clark, when he introduced her to the members of the yacht crew, who were lined up at attention, said: "Boys, here is the next 'Miss America.'"

Today "Miss Boston" rides in a flower-bedecked chair in the Rolling Chair Parade along the Boardwalk. It is in this event that the judges will make their first official inspection of the beauties.

SOUTHERN N. E. ROAD TO BE COMPLETED

Providence, R. I., Sept. 6.—Completion of the Southern New England Railway from Palmer, Mass., to tidewater in Rhode Island has been agreed upon by officials of the Grand Trunk Railway, and gangs of men are now actively at work on the project on the Massachusetts end.

George L. Crooker, chairman of the State Foreign and Domestic Commerce Commission, declared that the road will be completed probably within two years.

WOULD RESTORE TURKISH HAREM

Angora, Sept. 6.—Persistent efforts are being made in Turkey to restore the harem as a national institution. Polygamy was abolished more than a year ago by a resolution passed by the national assembly, but since then several unsuccessful efforts have been made to restore it to a legal status.

At the head of the current attempt to put through the assembly a resolution recognizing the harem as a national economic necessity is Salib Hodja, a teacher. The "Old Guard" in and out of the assembly is rallying to his support.

Salib Hodja has introduced five successive bills for the legalization of polygamous relations.

There are 6,171,000 women to 5,473,000 men in Turkey. Hodja argues that Turkey is unable to absorb this excess of women unless well-to-do Turks are permitted to support more than one.

NARRAGANSETT JEWEL THEFT

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Sept. 6.—Several thousand dollars in jewels were stolen from "Primrose," the summer residence here of Mrs. Henry L. Slader of Providence, according to a report to the police.

The only clews left were gravel on the carpet near a porch window on the second floor, indicating where entry was effected, and the report of neighbors that a man was seen running from the house.

Chief Frank J. Smith of the Narragansett Pier police made a careful check of the stolen property with Mrs. Slader. Among the missing articles are a clasp set with diamonds, a pair of earrings with diamond tips and drops, a pair of platinum buckles set with diamonds, two rare rough rock crystal bracelets imported from Naples, a pair of rough rock crystal earrings, jet gem set with pendant—an heirloom which has been in the family 100 years; a gold cigarette case, articles of clothing, and several hundred dollars in cash.

BIRKENHEAD TAKES ANOTHER FLING AT U. S.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—Had Europe known when the Versailles Treaty was being drafted that the United States intended staying out of her affairs, "many matters which have caused endless trouble in the world might have been spared," it was declared by the Earl of Birkenhead, former Lord Chancellor of England, in an address before the Canadian Bar Association.

Lord Birkenhead declared he was ready to back up the speech he made at Williamstown before the Institute of Politics in which he said America was not ready for the idealism of former President Wilson so far as his idea of a League of Nations was concerned.:

Speaking of the Versailles conference, Lord Birkenhead said:

"It was a bit late, you know. We were very stupid when the great peace conference was on at Versailles. If then we had only realized that the United States intended to live their own lives we would have been much ahead.

"We should have known and been prepared for what the United States did with Armenia, what happened in Greece, and in that case the Ruhr might have been evaded.

"Either the school of idealism which preceded the last election in the United States is right, or it is wrong. I am inclined to believe it is right."

Weds in Secret

JAMES W. LAVERS

Former Boston police captain, seventy-five years old, married in Burlington, Vt., to Mrs. Lillie Wells, sixty-five years old. Both are of Southbridge, Mass.

WOMAN RESCUED FROM MOTORBOAT

James J. Collins of Quincy and his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cuniff, in Collins' power boat Curley, ventured too far into shoal water at Surfside, Nantasket, and beached in the breakers. Collins and Cuniff carried Mrs. Cuniff ashore, but were drenched in so doing. Coast guardsmen saved the boat.

EX-POLICE CHIEF 75 YEARS OLD HAS ELOPED

Burlington, Vt., Sept. 6.—James W. Lavers, 75 years old, of Southbridge, Mass., a former captain in the Boston Police Department, and Mrs. Lillie Wells, 65 years old, a corsetiere, of the same town, eloped from Southbridge and were secretly married here.

Opposition to the union on the part of the children of the elderly bride and groom is said to have caused them to elope.

The news of the wedding came as a surprise to friends and relatives of the couple in Southbridge, and as the result of a whirlwind courtship of two months' duration.

The ceremony took place at the home of Mrs. J. M. Fraser, the bride's aunt, and was performed by Rev. Dr. Mark Kelley.

Lavers has been married twice before, while his bride was married once previously. Lavers has four children by his first marriage. His bride has three daughters.

Lavers is employed by the American Optical Company. He was for thirty-five years a captain in the Boston police department, also served as chief of police at Norwood and was connected with the railroad police at New Haven, Ct.

Lavers' three sons are James W. Lavers, Jr., manager of the Welfare Club, Boston, and former recreation director of the American Optical Company, Southbridge; Charles H. Lavers of Shanghai, China, secretary for the Baptist Foreign Mission Society, and former secretary of the Bowery Y. M. C. A.; Ralph Harding Lavers, a fireman in the Southbridge fire department. He has one daughter, Mrs. Frank Campbell, of Boston.

IRON POLE FALLS ON TROLLEY CAR

Passengers aboard an inbound tunnel car from Chelsea were startled when an iron pole toppled over on the car as it was passing over the drawbridge on Meridian street, East Boston. Trolley wires were torn down and traffic was diverted over the Central avenue route. No one was injured.

BOSTON'S TAX RATE SAME AS IN 1922

Boston's tax rate for this year will be $24.70 per thousand of valuation, the same as the past two years, Mayor Curley announces.

The Finance Commission and the Boston Real Estate Exchange practically demanded that the Mayor apply the $3,828,425 collected recently in back taxes to this year's tax rate and thus reduce this year's tax by approximately $2.25 per thousand.

Now the question arises, "What is the Mayor going to do with the $3,828,425 so called (free cash) in the city treasury. The Finance Commission and the Boston Real Estate Exchange say it can be used to reduce the tax rate. The Mayor and city auditor Rupert S. Carven say that it cannot.

SEE POLITICAL MOVE.

The Finance Commission, it is understood, will insist that Mayor Curley apply the money for the benefit of the tax-payers of the city.

On the other hand, it is said, that the Mayor will keep this money intact, because of the fact that next year he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor and may make a sweeping slash in the tax rate for 1924, thereby making many friends.

That the board of assessors have labored hard in their effort to keep the rate the same as last year, is a known fact. To keep it from soaring instead of lowering it was their intention.

Repeated conferences were held with the Mayor on the subject, and each time the only satisfaction that they received was to be told to go out and increase the valuations, in order to keep the tax rate stationary this year.

FLOUTS DEFIANCE.

For the past month many communications have passed between the Mayor and Chairman Michael H. Sullivan of the Finance Commission and City Auditor Carven on the subject.

Both friends and critics of the present administration claim that politics are playing a powerful part in the disposition of the $3,828,425 now in the city coffers, which the Mayor declares must be held in "reserve."

The Mayor, by his announcement of the $24.70 tax rate, flouts defiance into the faces of the Finance Commission and the members of the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

$100 Pearl Found in Clam Chowder by Methuen Girl

Methuen, Sept. 6. — Miss Frances Jacobson of Centre street spent a profitable vacation at Hampton Beach and today is wearing a ring with a pearl of high grade. The precious jewel was found in a clam chowder at the beach. Miss Jacobson's teeth struck the gem with force, but it was of such a solid substance that it was not marked. It has been appraised for $100.

HOLYOKE GANG BEATS UP COP; ONE SHOT

Holyoke, Sept. 6.—A gang's attempt to carry out threatened vengeance on patrolman Thomas O'Connor ended in the wounding of one young man and the arrest of two others.

Four young men surrounded patrolman O'Connor near No. 102 Lyman street. All jumped at him, he says, but he drove them away. Then, he claims, the four young men began throwing bottles at him.

O'Connor says he warned them to quit, but they paid no attention and he shot one of them in the groin. The others ran away. The wounded boy, Edward J. Clune, twenty, of Fountain street, was booked on charges of drunkenness.

AUNT AGAIN HELD IN MURDER OF BOY

Catskill, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Mrs. Esther Litt, aunt of Howard Rothenberg, seven years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rothenberg of Newark, N. J., whose body was found on a road near Windham a week ago, again was detained as a material witness.

A clue unearthed was a cardboard carton which contained anaesthetic ether.

ASKS COOLIDGE TO INTERVENE IN THE RUHR

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, will ask President Coolidge to intervene in the Franco-German impasse over reparations as the first step in putting Europe on a sound economic basis, he said upon his return here after having studied the European situation through the Summer.

Mr. Upham said he would recommend to President Coolidge that he ask Congress for authority to name a commission of American business men to determine reparations Germany is able to pay.

Without asking permission of France, the United States, in Mr. Upham's opinion, should inquire into Germany's ability to pay and then France should be informed that the figure arrived at should be accepted at once.

Failure of France to accept the commission's findings should be followed by a demand upon France to pay at once the debt she owes the United States, according to Mr. Upham's plan.

"The United States is the only nation in the world today that is in a position to demand that Europe put its house in order," Mr. Upham said.

Mr. Upham announced that unless President Coolidge vetoed present plans of the national committee, the Republican national convention in 1924 would be held in Chicago.

SODA GAS TANK IN WEST END BLOWS UP

Nearly a score of persons in the restaurant of Robbins & Swartz at No. 9 Leverett street, West End, escaped injury when a soda gas tank in the basement of the building exploded, tore through the first floor, and lodged itself in the ceiling of the restaurant. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

The tank, which is four feet long and had a pressure of 2,000 pounds, split the soda fountain in halves.

Julius Robbins, one of the proprietors, ascribed the cause of the explosion to a defect in the gas tank.

$10,000,000 IS WANTED FOR 'DRY' WORK

Washington, Sept. 6.—Appropriation of $10,000,000 for federal work in enforcing prohibition next year, an increase of $1,000,000 over last year, has been requested of the Budget Bureau by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. An increase of $500,000 additional for enforcing the narcotic drug laws also has been asked by Commissioner Haynes.

Increase in the number of field agents as well as the Washington and field headquarters staffs of the prohibition forces is planned if the increased appropriations are approved by the Budget Bureau, President Coolidge, and finally Congress. More prohibition agents are believed by Commissioner Haynes to be needed.

Repeal of the New York State enforcement law and partial failure of State co-operation there and elsewhere are understood to be the chief reasons for the request for additional appropriations.

GIRL CHARGED WITH PASSING BAD CHECKS

Her fashionable attire and smart appearance are said by the police to have so impressed several Boston banks and hotels that her checks were readily accepted. Losses totalling $500 are attributed to her as "bogus check queen"

RUTH WILSON

ELOPEMENT IS SPOILED BY POLICE

Miss Bessie Clark, sixteen years old, a school girl of [illegible] Portsmouth, N. H., who eloped with Fred Bruce of North Adams, agreed to abandon her matrimonial [illegible] and return to school when her father, John W. Clark, met his daughter and her swain in the Hanover street police station.

Clark [illegible] from Amesbury where he stopped to find a note on Bessie's [illegible] in which the girl said she had decided to leave home and that she was going to New York where she would live with relatives.

Bessie has no relatives in New York. Clark picked up a few clews from his daughter's [illegible] and suspecting the truth, telephoned the Boston police, asking them to be on the watch for an eloping couple at the North Station. He then took the next train for Boston.

Boston police headquarters communicated the request to the Hanover street police station and Sergeant Sullivan was detailed to break up the elopement.

GIRL IS LOCATED

When the Portsmouth train arrived, Sergeant Sullivan spotted a blushing girl and a bashful youth, who didn't seem to know exactly what to do next after stepping from the train.

Questions brought confused answers. Yes, they were going to Boston, they told the sergeant. They hesitated to say just what their mission was in Boston, until Sergeant Sullivan asked them if they were not Bessie Clark of Portsmouth, N. H., and Fred Bruce of North Adams. The couple hesitatingly admitted their identity. They were taken to the Hanover street station to await the arrival of Clark.

BESSIE OWNS UP.

Confronted by her father, Bessie admitted that matrimony might interfere with her studies, and that, perhaps after all, it would be better to forego marriage at least until she had been graduated from high school. She returned home with her father. Bruce was questioned by the police, and released when no charges were preferred against him by Clark.

VETERAN USES RAZOR IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Fall River, Sept. 6.—Joseph Almeida, thirty years old, No. 57 Clinton street, a veteran of the World War, is at the General Hospital in a critical condition as the result of attempting to commit suicide by slashing his left arm with a razor, cutting several arteries. His family stated that he threatened to end his life several times since returning home.

HUB 'AUTO HIKERS' COVER 2,000 MILES

The new sport of "auto hiking" has two enthusiastic followers in Boston. They are Gabriel Pollock of No 130 Porter street and Samuel Goldberg of No. 291 Chelsea street, both of East Boston. They have just returned from a hike of 2000 miles to Quebec, Montreal and New York. It took them 35 days and cost only $48.23.

GIRL ACCUSED OF PREYING ON BANKS

After a long search for the "bogus check queen" who has been preying on Boston's banks and hotels since June, the police arrested Ruth Wilson, 23 years old, a girl of many aliases, as she was about to leave her room at the Hotel Gralyn, No. 20 Charlesgate West.

No. 20 Charlesgate West.

The girl, who is well dressed and attractive, was taken into custody by Inspectors Dorsey and Augusta of headquarters. She was removed to Back Bay police station where to prevent her being released on bail she was booked as a suspicious character.

CLAIM $500 LOSS.

Miss Wilson's exploitation of hotels and banks in Boston the police allege, totalled nearly $500. They say her fashionable attire and smart appearance took the bank clerks completely off their guard and they cashed her checks readily, assuming that she was a student and the daughter of wealthy parents.

At the various hotels where she stopped she nearly always paid her bills with worthless checks, it is alleged.

BANKS AND HOTELS.

The girl is alleged to have victimized the following banks and hotels: The Commonwealth-Atlantic National Bank, the Merchants' National Bank, the State Street Trust Company, the Hotel Touraine, and the American House.

At the Commonwealth Atlantic National Bank, the girl is alleged to have passed four checks totalling $125. She is alleged to have passed a worthless check for $48 at the Merchants' National Bank, and one for $143 at the State Street Trust Company.

After a two weeks' stay at the Hotel Touraine Miss Wilson is alleged to have paid her board and room bill with a bogus check for $83.07. Likewise at the American House after a ten days' stay, she is alleged to have paid her bill with a check for $58.60.

The girl also is said to have stopped at Young's Hotel where, the police believe, she paid her bills with the money obtained from the checks cashed at the banks.

VISITS PROVIDENCE.

The girl's arrest followed her return, from Providence, where it is said she stopped at the Biltmore Hotel. She is believed to have parents in Lawrence. Her father is said to be a watchman in a mill there.

The girl, the police say, is wanted on similar charges in New York City. Her aliases, they say, include Ruth Milner, Dorothy Coleman and Ruth Linhan. At one time the police say, she was confined in the Florence Crittenden House, in Lancaster.

KILLS SELF AFTER PERFUMED BATH

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Margaret Lewis Saxton took a perfumed bath, donned pink silk undergarments and a blue satin kimono and cap, and then committed suicide by poison.

The police believe that Mrs. Saxton, an accomplished musician, was actuated by domestic troubles.

WILL QUIT LONDON POST

Ambassador Finds Life Costly; Besides, He Aspires to Hughes' Chair

Washington, Sept. 6.—Col Harvey is coming back to the United States shortly after the first of the year to [illegible] the campaign, and his homecoming will end his connection with the diplomatic corps.

This will [illegible] appointed [illegible] would [illegible] the Department [illegible] cast his lot with the new President.

[illegible] expected to [illegible] toward [illegible] Mr. [illegible]

George Harvey

CRAVATH FOR AMBASSADOR.

[illegible] the Court of St. James [illegible] with a long-cherished desire to bring him into the ambassadorial group.

One thing that is, perhaps, against this idea is that when it first became known that Colonel Harvey's stay abroad was only to be until the time arrived for him to be useful in politics at home it was revealed that the Colonel would like to be Secretary of State himself and that if that came to pass he might have his own ideas about who should be the Ambassador in London in the [illegible].

ESCAPES SOCIAL LIFE.

One reason Colonel Harvey is anxious to be rid of his present job is that he finds it too expensive even for a man of his, by no means inconsiderable, resources.

He came back last Spring to avoid the social season and told Mr Harding that he had had enough of it and asked to be relieved. Mr. Harding prevailed on him to continue as Ambassador until he returned from Alaska, the understanding being that he would be rescued from London about this time.

With the advent of Mr. Coolidge to the White House the Colonel is said to have renewed his efforts to relinquish the post.

The new President is supposed to to have represented to him that this would interfere with his idea of holding the Harding organization intact, and that his resignation at this time would give rise to embarrassing impressions so [illegible] him to return to England, it being agreed that this was only to be until the end of the year.

AIDE TO COOLIDGE

Now it is understood that Col Harvey will return permanently and the surmise is that he will help the new President with Congress and be the guide, philosopher and friend to Mr. Coolidge during the pre-convention campaign that he had meant to be to Mr. Harding.

PETROVA PREDICTS MONARCHY IN FRANCE

New York, Sept. 6.—Mme. Olga Petrova, Russian prima donna, predicted to newspaper reporters who interviewed her on her arrival here from Paris, that a royalist revolution in France is imminent. The movement for a return to a monarchial form of government is being widely discussed in royalists circles, she says. Mme Petrova told reporters that many of her Parisian friends are confident that France will return to a monarchial government.

PERSHING IS GUEST OF LEGION

Veterans of Great War Gather at Marblehead for the State Convention

General John J. Pershing will be the [illegible] guest of honor at the [illegible] convention of the American [illegible], which convenes at [illegible] Hotel, Marblehead, [illegible] and will be in session [illegible] of the week.

[illegible] of officers [illegible] from [illegible] the convention.

A quiet boom for Major-General Clarence R. Edwards, who was the [illegible] Yankee [illegible] for [illegible]. Several weeks ago this newspaper first [illegible] the fact. [illegible] the convention for General Edwards, have been intimating that Vice Commander Reth will retire in his favor at the right time.

Mr. Reth says he will not retire, but will fight until he wins or loses. He believes he deserves the promotion [illegible].

He is scheduled to arrive in Boston Thursday night and to arrive at the convention Friday morning at 10.30 o'clock. The general will address the convention and a rousing greeting [illegible].

Other distinguished guests will be Hanford McNider of Mason City, Ia., past national commander of the legion; Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who is a strong advocate of a generous bonus, and Rev William O'Connor of Cincinnati, national chaplain of the legion.

DELEGATES ARRIVE.

Today Marblehead is filling up with delegates and the prospect is for an unusually large gathering.

One of the hot fights will be over the election of a state adjutant. Leo A. Spillane has held the office since the temporary organization days and is a candidate for reelection. Hayward R. C. Mott, who served overseas with the 26th division, and, since returning, has been employed by the Veterans' Bureau and Dennis Haverty, member of Fitchburg post and manager of the Worcester office of the Veterans' Bureau, are Adjutant Spillane's opponents. Both claim indorsements from a number of posts. Spillane's friends say they feel sure a majority will show proper appreciation of his service.

CONTESTS IN SIGHT.

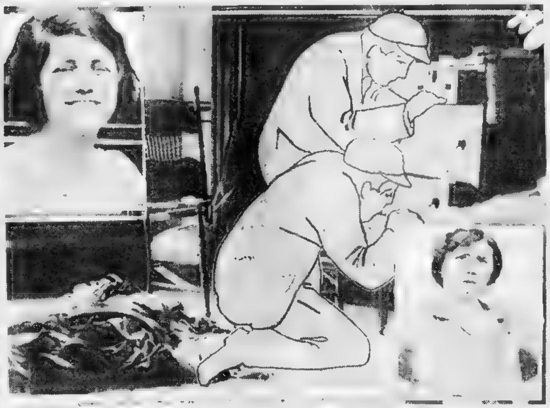
Dr. E. J. McCarthy [illegible] of the state welfare committee, and Leo Harlow, chairman of the legislative committee, will have a good-natured contest for vice-commander. Frank Goode of Cambridge and Andrew Carr of Plymouth are rivals for another vice-commandership, and William J. McGuinness of Lawrence, Ralph Prout of Quincy and Frank Keegan of Greenfield will battle for the third place.

Boston is practically out of the running for either the State or the national convention next year. Mayor Curley is willing to pledge generous sums but co-operation from civic associations and business bodies is lacking. The mayor has offered to pledge the city of Boston to the extent of $10,000 for the State convention and $25,000 for the national. He has made a personal promise to work hard to raise the required sum from private interests, but the Legion insists upon positive assurances.

Marblehead is spending $25,000 for the State convention this year and Brockton and Pittsfield will do as well for next year's convention. The latter city is making a great hustle to win.

This year the national convention is to be held in San Francisco next month. The [illegible] citizens who are backing the Mayor of that city have planned a program which calls for the expenditure of more than $200,000. Mayor Curley has told legion officials he believes that might be done in metropolitan Boston, but the Massachusetts delegation to the national convention must know positively how much of a guarantee can be made before they would bid for the national gathering.

HOME LOOTED OF $10,000



RANSACKED RESIDENCE AND VICTIMS

During the absence of Samuel N. Goldberg, No. 44 Charlotte [illegible] right) and daughter, Dorothy (insert upper left), burglars [illegible] $10,000.

ANTIQUES AND TAPESTRIES STOLEN

Burglars broke into the residence of Samuel N. Goldberg, wealthy real estate operator, of No 44 Charlotte street, Mattapan, while the Goldberg family was vacationing in Maine, and stole $10,000 worth of property.

The thieves, working with thoroughness and dispatch, effected an entrance by jimmying a cellar door, passing through the cellar to the first floor. Desks were broken open, closets jimmied and their contents strewn over the floor. Five valuable fur coats, costly antiques tapestries, and apparel representing in the aggregate $10,000 were stolen.

The robbery was discovered by Goldberg when he returned from the beach. The thieves left no fingerprints or clews which might lead to their apprehension.

MEDFORD BOY'S LEG FRACTURED BY AUTO

James Fitzgerald, four years old, of No. 4 Henry street, Medford, suffered a fractured left leg and other injuries when he was struck by an automobile at Main and Harvard streets, Medford. He was removed to his home and treated by a physician. The automobile was operated by J. A. Oldroyd, of No. 81 Empire street, Allston.

MAYOR HYLAN NOW ILL WITH PLEURISY

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The illness of Mayor John F. Hylan of New York, who for nearly two weeks has been confined to bed at the Summer home of his son-in-law here has developed into pleurisy, his physician, Dr. George F. Comstock, announced.

An x-ray examination revealed that the right lung was affected and also that there was inflammation of the bronchial tubes.

Banana Song Earns $85,000 for Its Composers

New York, Sept. 6.—Frank Silver and Irving Cohn, who wrote the popular song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," have already received $60,000 in royalties in America.

In one month the song also earned $25,000 from the English royalties. So they are now $85,000 to the good.

Yet they peddled the song for months in New York before they could get it published.

TAXI HITS BOY; MOB THREATENS DRIVER

Threatened by a mob after he had run down and perhaps fatally injured a boy, Fred A. Kendall, head of a Lynn taxicab company, picked up his young victim and forced the crowd to give way by driving his taxi through them.

The boy, who was taken to Lynn Hospital by Kendall, is the ten-year-old son of "Fighting Dick" Russell, a pugilist, who resides at No. 32 Wheeler street, Lynn.

According to Kendall and witnesses of the accident, the boy was rolling a hoop in Pleasant street at Tremont street, Lynn, when Kendall, with a woman passenger, drove by.

The left front fender of the car struck the boy and knocked him several feet. Several hundred people quickly gathered around [illegible]. Threats of lynching were [illegible] Kendall, who for a few [illegible] seemed not to know what [illegible] take.

Then leaping from his taxi, he picked up the boy and headed for the mob which blocked the street. At the hospital it was feared young Russell might not live more than a few hours. He is suffering from a fractured skull and numerous cuts and bruises.

Kendall was arrested for operating a motor vehicle without having his license with him. Police who tested the car declared that none of the breaks were in proper condition. The automobile, a used car, had just been bought by Kendall, who was making his first trip in it.

BLANCHE RING'S MOTHER STARTS WILL CONTEST

Mrs. Jessie [illegible] mother of Blanche Ring, actress, and Cyril Ring, movie star, and mother-in-law of Tom Meighan of filmdom fame will contest the will of her sixty-[illegible]-old sister, Miss Jessie Ross, who left all her [illegible] family. The man is Benjamin Blywood of Everett, Mrs. Ring said.

Blanche Ring

(c) Strauss-Peyton.

Miss Ross died recently at the City Hospital, where she was confined for ten weeks following an accident at Washington and Franklin streets, and was buried this afternoon from the chapel in Waterman's undertaking establishment with interment in Mt. Hope Cemetery against the wishes of her sister. Mrs. Ring wanted to bury her sister at Mt Auburn, but the latter's request is being followed out by the administrator for the estate.

Mrs Ring stated that in 1910 her sister made a will in which all the property was to be left to her. Two years ago another will was drawn up, Mrs. Ring said, [illegible] erty was left to Mr. [illegible] whose father once knew Miss Ross when [illegible] Beacon street residence.

Senile dementia is the ground on which Mrs. Ring [illegible] to break the second will made by her sister. The contest is being waged by Mrs Ring and her husband. None of the prominent theatrical members of the family are going [illegible].

The property left by Miss Ross [illegible] will total about [illegible] savings of [illegible] work in Boston department stores.

Miss Ross is survived by her sister, Mrs. Ring and possibly another sister, Mrs. Elizabeth W[illegible] of Kansas City, who cannot be located.

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—Brutal drivers of heavy trucks who butt inoffensive railroad trains off the track must be more careful at grade crossings in future, it would appear.

The Southern Pacific Company has filed suit against Frank W. Ealer, truck driver, for damaging a train at the grade crossing at Studebaker, Cal.

Thorpe asked Mrs. Litt to get in touch with her lawyer and make a statement.

To guests and family alike, new things to eat are always enjoyed and usually praised. Particularly, those new and wonderful green olive recipes originated by noted dietitians and used by some of America's most famous chefs.

Eagle Line May Cause 'Cav' to Change System

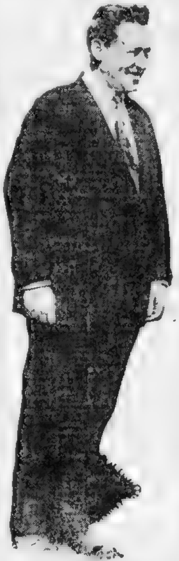
By NICK FLATLEY

Frame of mind is the greatest single force in football [illegible] engaged just now [illegible]

[illegible] with the proper frame of mind [illegible] Major, [illegible] and lick Holy Cross any day in the week.

This of [illegible] psychology and [illegible] Boston College [illegible] is strong for that stuff. He likes to get [illegible] teams so mad that they can't see straight. Then he licks them.

But he will bring forth [illegible] yards of argument to [illegible] his contentions. And he [illegible] pretty nearly right because he always manages to grind out a formidable outfit.



Coach Cavanaugh

Cav is worrying just now about [illegible] University Heights. He has a great backfield, one of the best in the country, but his forwards are a source of bother.

The Maroon line a year ago had [illegible] of power. But it wasn't [illegible] at all times. The boys were just beginning to work together with the final whistle tooted.

Three Star Forwards Lost

"I have lost three of the greatest forwards in the country," the coach explains, "and I will take a lot of hard work to replace them."

He refers to Jack Heaphy, center, Tony Comerford, [illegible] and Ray Paten, tackle. The football world knew all three of them very well, but Kay [illegible] were much more valuable to him than anybody ever did realize.

The Boston College mentor believes in sudden and surprising football, if you know what we mean. He has probably invented more shifts and swings and passes and things than any other coach. A whole lot of them are now standard football.

And the three birds he bemoans were ideally adapted to his system. They were fast and aggressive, able to carry [illegible] and thus and all that. And that's his football. He had an interchangeable line last year and he wants to have another this year. But he must find three or four flashes to get it.

"Speed in the line is the answer to any great football team," he says. "Fast forwards keep the other fellows worried so much that the backs can find plenty of holes. Comerford and Paten were the two best men in the country on their [illegible]

[illegible] are they loosed [illegible] then [illegible] they did [illegible] masters at it.

[illegible] on the Holy Cross game that [illegible] average of ten yards. Yet he wasn't near the ball and he [illegible] away from the play that he [illegible]

"That," continued Cav, "is another mark of the good player. [illegible] all that the great [illegible] to get away with it and it's a tough proposition to dig three of them up in a couple of months."

But [illegible] the least discouraged. He has plenty of new material, [illegible] will be very good, and enough veterans to build around. He may have [illegible] to a new style of football for Boston College, but that's one of the [illegible] things he does.

Boston College [illegible] a particularly tough schedule, which is [illegible] fault of the coach. He'd like to play all the good teams on successive Saturdays, but other good teams are a bit wary about tackling the crowd [illegible] Heights. Too many football reputations have been dented in the three years of the Cavanaugh reign for the other fellows to take chances.

[illegible] victory will eventually force any college team into the big arena. [illegible] B. C. proceeds on the policy of progress, let the games fall where they may.

The [illegible] eleven which defeated Boston last fall had a contract to play again this year, but walked from under on the plea that the game was too tough, considering other contests on the schedule.

Every football fan in the world knows that B. C. left the Yale schedule [illegible] beaten, because the Elis didn't exactly relish [illegible]

A coach in [illegible] naturally can't feel sore knowing that the best possible [illegible] any of their game.

Cavanaugh believes, and so do most Boston football followers, that Captain Darling of his team is the best football player in the country. The blond leader has everything a great back needs, speed, endurance, courage and brains. In addition he is probably the finest kicker on the gridiron.

"Darling is the best athlete New England has seen for many a year," is the Cavanaugh verdict. "He's a natural leader and any coach would be lucky to have him for a captain. He's one of those rare chaps who doesn't swell up with praise, so one doesn't mind talking about him. And he's an ideal type to inspire that frame of mind that can win so many hard football games."

A tip to drivers—
and pedestrians too

By THE VETERAN MOTORIST

I SUPPOSE it's because I've driven around so much in the last fifteen years that I've seen about twice as many accidents as the average motorist. Can't begin to remember them all, but I know a lot were connected with passing trolleys.

One special reason for this lies in the different rules and regulations that prevail in different localities. In some places you may not pass a standing trolley at all, and there the pedestrian crossing the street should be perfectly safe from automobiles, so long as the trolley remains standing. In other places motors may pass a standing trolley "with due care" or "not less than" six or eight feet away; in these cases both driver and pedestrian ought to watch their going mighty carefully.

My best advice is to keep up to date on your own local rules about passing trolleys, etc., and follow them scrupulously. When you are away from home, and may not know all the local provisions, abide by the strictest rules for safety that you do know.

No Starch—Why?

Starch means discomfort, saw edges. Damp starch breeds bacteria. Ordinary collars need starch to keep their bands from buckling. The VAN HEUSEN needs no starch. Its multi-ply fabric, light and flexible, is curved in the weaving. Bandless, it will not wilt or buckle. That's why it's hygienic and durable as well as comfortable and incomparably smart.

A WANT AD IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN BRINGS SURE RESULTS

Boston is the best centre in New England for recruiting for the army of United States.—Captain Michael J. Cooney.

Labor's Plea to Retain Public Control

The reports of the Bay State and the Boston Elevated railways under public management are very encouraging from the property side of the roads. They indicate a complete rebuilding of the railroad property and a gradual reduction of the expense of operating which modernizing, renewing and upkeeping a road may be expected to achieve

Now comes labor to testify in favor of public operation through the mouth of James H. Vahey, attorney for the Boston Elevated employes. In addressing the Board of Arbitration the other day on behalf of the men who operate the Boston Elevated, he said:

> Is anybody foolish enough to suppose that under this Public Control act at the end of ten years that the people of Massachusetts are going to let the Legislature give this road back to private owners? If anybody is foolish enough to think that, they are a lot more foolish than I think they ought to be, because under the control of these public trustees, which has been very highly efficient, which has done wonders for this road, this road has been recreated. It has been restored, it has been rehabilitated, made over.
> Does anybody suppose that the State of Massachusetts is going to be ridiculous enough to give back to the stockholders, in addition to making a new road for them, a road which was in bankruptcy when these public trustees took it, $10,000,000 out of [illegible] fares which have been collected from the people and other moneys which have been secured [illegible]
> Of course there will be no return of the Boston Elevated Railway to private management, because the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has the power to determine whether this road shall be returned to its private owners
> The trustees have practically been obliged to rebuild this road, because when they took it the road was in frightful shape and they had practically to rebuild it in order to make the road safe for the people to ride upon; they had to make it safe for the millions of men, women and children who ride every year upon it, and if it was to be returned to the private owners in addition to rebuilding the road, they would have to give back $1,000,000, if it was not in the reserve fund at the end of ten years.

Thus the circle of success is completed, for the contentment of those who have to labor in the vineyard is as necessary and more necessary than the contentment of any other department of the operation.

A Clergyman's Warning

We Dig Our Graves With Our Teeth

Copyright, 1923, Star Co

Referring to an article published in the "Today" column of the Boston American, the Reverend M. J. Riordan, pastor of St. Martin's Church, of Washington, D. C., writes as follows:

ST. MARTIN'S RECTORY,
1908 North Capitol Street,
Washington, D. C.

Editor Boston American:

Sir—I am truly delighted to read your remarks on fasting and the [illegible] of giving food during sickness. You cannot repeat these statements too often. The general public is educated only by repetition

All sickness is caused by wrong eating and drinking and it is to be cured by fasting and right eating. I speak from experience, as I have been visiting the sick at home and in hospitals for more than [illegible] years.

Very truly,
M. J. RIORDAN, Pastor

This warning and advice from a reverend gentleman will be appreciated by many that perhaps would pay little attention to the words of a doctor or a layman.

There is no doubt whatever, for instance, that the Catholic church, imposing reasonable and regular fasts upon its adherents, has done great physical good in this world quite apart from the spiritual benefit that follows the carrying out of religious instruction.

We eat too much, too steadily. We know that every machine must have a rest. We lay up our automobile and have it overhauled, letting ALL of it rest for a while. But the most important machine of ALL, the one working inside of OURSELVES, we drive at highest power, day after day, year after year, many of us, as has been well said, "Digging our graves with our teeth." About half what the prosperous eat keeps them alive, the other half shortens their lives by at least 30 per cent.

Eat less, especially less meat in hot weather. Eat fruit, regularly, washing it always before you eat RAW fruit Give stewed fruit to your children. Eat SLOWLY. Whatever your teeth DON'T DO your stomach MUST DO.

And the edges of your teeth are sharper than anything in your stomach.

Leave the table feeling that you could and would like to eat MORE.

Be moderate* and every once in a while give your stomach a COMPLETE rest.

Never take a hearty meal if you have work, mental or physical, afterward.

Mental work and physical work require all the blood you can spare in the BRAIN or in the MUSCLES. A hearty meal requires all the blood that can be spared at work in the STOMACH.

The same blood cannot work in two places at once. Hearty eating followed by hard work means injury to the work AND to the digestion, and before long ruination of the latter.

De Pachmann Arrives

De Pachmann arrives in America with the opinion sincerely uttered, "I am the greatest pianist," and a new piano method, playing with the wrists perfectly stiff. Boys and girls that have been put through half a dozen different "methods" will be interested in that, including those taught at the Stuttgart Conservatory to play with a glassful of water on the back of the hand without spilling the water. De Pachmann may be right about his stiff wrist method. There are a hundred ways of doing ANYTHING well and successfully, as W. R. Hearst says to his editors. The main thing is to select some ONE way and stick to it—until you're sure you've found a better.

Defends Bobbed Hair.

Editor, Boston American:

One Tom Daniels writes, "The modern girl is as devoid of inspiration as a box of pins." I don't take that, and in the name of "the modern girl," I answer him.

I do smoke. My hair has been bobbed. (This no longer a smart style so I have done it up). Maybe I would yawn if in his company—it has been a long day since I had an evening with a man who was well enough informed on current topics to keep me from yawning, ten minutes of conversation and the young man tells a girl what he paid for the "last quart of real stuff"—does she want to [illegible] it?

As for the "beauties of nature," I haven't watched a sunset with a man since heaven knows when—except "O, see that gorgeous sunset!" "Yes, ain't it?" "Give us a kiss, sweetie,—naw, not that kind, a long one!" Ugh! And if a girl doesn't [illegible] she's called a dead one and left to lead the solitary existence of one dead so far as male companionship is concerned!

I am sorry all the bob-haired girls he sees have scrawny necks. Each time I go in town and note the bare necked and bare armed girls on the streets, I see scores of beauteous ones—would that I were an artist to beg some of them to pose for me!

Tots Need Clothing

Editor Helping Hand

I am a girl fourteen years old. I have two sisters eleven and thirteen, also three brothers, two, five and eight. We all need clothing because my father is laid off from work and my mother is sick in bed from rheumatism. We are in need of any kind of clothes for wear. If some kind reader has a sulky for my youngest brother or an express cart I would be thankful. I hope some of your kind readers will help us.

MARY E.

Plea for Sweater

Editor Helping Hand

Would some one please send me a baby's sweater, bonnet and booties for a new baby that I expect in a week? I am without a friend and don't know where to get these things. My husband deserted me and my two children. I would like white with blue edge, or the money. Thank you very much.

MRS. A. S.

Thanks, Mrs. J. A. K.

Editor Helping Hand

Will you please send me the address of Frances, whose appeal appeared in your paper? I have many good dresses, shoes and other things I would like to send her. Also please send me address of Mrs. T. McK., as I think I can help her "pass the time away." You are doing a very charitable and praiseworthy work. God bless you! Your acts are most Christ-like.

MRS. J. A. K.

Our efforts seem meager indeed in comparison with the kindly acts of those like Mrs. J. A. K. You have been sent the addresses of Frances and Mrs. T. McK., and we add our gratitude to theirs for your kind acts.

Appeals for Clothes

Editor Helping Hand

As I have a large family and my father is not working and my [illegible] is getting married in a [illegible] two I will be much obliged to you for any help. My sister has a paralyzed arm and does [illegible] she can. I am sixteen years old and cannot get any work.

Dollar for Harry

Editor Helping Hand

Inclosed please find one dollar for Harry. I haven't any clothes for boys, but this may get the little chap something. I will send his sister some little girl's clothes if she can use them.

MRS. W. F. S.

Many thanks. The dollar has been sent to Harry and will help him a lot.

In Debt, Asks Help

Editor Helping Hand

I have a great many bills which I could not pay for the past three years, as my husband did not work steady. And now I am trying to get along, paying a little at a time. I have a boy four years old and two girls, five and seven. I would gladly accept any clothes for the children or working clothes for my husband, who is of medium size. I wear size 5 shoes and size 36 clothes. Anything that I could make over would be a help or any bedclothes, if you happen to have them. Hope I am not asking too much. God bless you all. (Great work.)

MRS. H. M. S.

THE MOUNTING TOLL OF DEATH AND DEVASTATION

By Herbert Kaufman

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND paupers and princes, a million palaces and hovels lie charred and mangled in a common Japanese grave.

Volcanoes do not know that the reigning house of Nippon is descended direct from the sun, nor does nature spare temples when her fury flails huts to kindling

Man and his works are all pawns of destiny

We plod and plot, dream and aspire, whittle stone and toothpicks, and call them skyscrapers, contrive bridles for the wind, forge bits for the lightning, play masters on mote of star dust, of which a thousand spheres are unaware—and lo!

Mother Earth casually yawns and an empire breaks to shards

The best laid plans of humans are no more certain than are those of mice.

Yet a divine spark, lighted when Mongolia was a mass of incandescent lava, in the dim consciousness of a feeble cell, will warm faith and stir courage until one exploding atom detonates another, and in the twinkling of an eye resolves this universe back into the virginal gases from which it was condensed

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON UNIVERSAL CALENDAR

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

ONE of the unexpected sequences of the World War is the unification of the calendar in Europe. Politics, religion and racial prejudice have had more to do with this question than science, but the final result is not less happy on that account.

It began with the present rulers of Russia overthrowing the time-honored Julian calendar which their country had obstinately retained in spite of the fact that its reckoning had dropped thirteen days behind that of the Gregorian calendar used by nearly all the rest of the civilized world, including Japan and China.

It is interesting to remember that one of the reforms that the French revolutionists undertook was also the adoption of a new calendar, but they made poor work of it and their bizarre and over-poetical calendar, with its "month of flowers," "month of fog," "month of wind," "month of rain," etc., did not last long. In this matter the Russians have done well. And this Summer the pan-orthodox congress at Constantinople has voted for the substitution of the Gregorian for the Julian calendar in all countries within its jurisdiction, beginning October 1.

Yet even the best calendar that man has been able to invent is not strictly accurate. We cannot alter the length of either the year, which is measured by the earth's revolution around the sun, or the day, which is measured by the earth's rotation on its axis. Nature has made these incommensurable, as it has made the circumference and the diameter of a circle incommensurable in the units of human [illegible].

When the earth has rotated 365 times on its axis it has performed almost one circuit in its orbit around the sun, as measured from the vernal equinox as a starting point. But after the 365th turn there remain a little more of the orbit to be traveled, just long enough to consume the time required by the earth to take nearly one-quarter of another turn.

Julius Caesar, forty-five years before Christ, established the "Julian calendar" to reform the year. He decreed that the true year should be regarded as having 365 days. But to avoid the inconvenience of the fraction he divided the calendar years into two kinds, ordinary years and leap years of 366 days. After every three ordinary years was to come one leap year.

But, fortunately, the true year is not quite 365¼ days long. It lacks 11 minutes 14½ seconds. Caesar's calendar, therefore, gained one whole day in the course of every 128 years.

The result was that in the year 1582 the discordance that Caesar had tried to correct showed itself again very conspicuously, the vernal equinox having fallen back ten days from the date on which it had occurred at the time of the Council of Nice.

Now in addition to other practical considerations, ecclesiastical reasons existed why the vernal equinox should not be permitted to drift about so loosely, and Pope Gregory XIII, ordered that ten days should be dropped at once from the existing calendar, and that henceforth, to correct the error of Caesar, the leap year should be omitted in every century year not divisible by 400. Thus there has been no "century leap year" since 1600, and will be none until 2000.

THREE-MINUTE TRIPS

WHERE ONLY WIVES WEAR TURBANS

By Temple Manning

IN Burma live a most interesting people—the Kachins. Where they came from no one really knows. But their high cheek bones and swarthy skins have convinced students of the human race that they are Malays and originally came from the land where the Yangtze River rises and starts on its long journey to the sea

The part of Burma inhabited by this people is a veritable land of dirt and disease. So distressing are the health conditions that of seventeen children born only six survive infancy

But this state of misery does not seem to affect the spirits of the Kachins. They are a happy, carefree, cheery people, living on rice and hunting big game with a skill and daring which astonishes even the seasoned white hunter

Life does not hold many problems here. The Kachin houses are built of bamboo and are supported by large bamboo poles All the utensils for household use are made of this same wood Even the girdles worn by the women are made of the creeping bamboo.

But bamboo is not the only ornament of dress for the Kachin women—far from it. They go in for cloth dyed in as many colors as were used in Joseph's coat

To the traveler in Burma, the number of turbans worn by the female population is surprising. But it is not perplexing when the visitor discovers that there is a very important reason for the popularity of the fashion.

In Burma it is the ambition of every girl to wear a turban. Each girl eagerly looks forward to the time when it will be her privilege to swathe her head in yards and yards of dark cloth

But, until she has found a young man who is willing to build her a bamboo house and to raise rice for her, she cannot wear this coveted headdress. Because among the Kachins unmarried girls are not permitted to wear a turban—nor do they let their hair grow long. They wear the fashionable bobbed hair and have done so for centuries.

TWO KACHIN WOMEN

But the day a Kachin girl is married, she lets her hair grow and binds it up with the turban, which she wears with pride. For the turban marks her as a married woman.

Just How To Dance The Prince of Wales Fox Trot

Its Long, Swift Movements Are Easy to Learn and Give Poise to the Dancers, Say the Creators of the Newest Steps Designed for the Prince

Wanda Hoff, the Beautiful American Dancer, and Wife of Paul Whiteman, Who Shared His Success at Wales's Parties in London.

IF he were not English and royal and surrounded by all the pomp and panoply of Britain's hope and pride—if he were just a "nice boy," as he is anyway, but an American "nice boy," who could do as he liked and no questions asked at all times, there's grave suspicion that he sometimes might be described as a "kibbo."

Right here it is best to explain that a "kibbo" is in no wise an objectionable creature, but merely a young man who loves to dance. He so well loves to dance that he counts that day lost whose low-descending sun holds no memory of three or four hundred turns round some well-waxed floor. He'd a little rather fox trot or waltz or tango—but fox trot 'specially—than eat or marry.

And doesn't this rather well describe His Charming Highness, the Prince of Wales?

America's dictators of the dance appear to believe so, since at a meeting of the dancing masters of the National Institute of Social Dancing, held in New York recently, the newest and perhaps most delightful of fox trots was called "Prince of Wales Fox Trot," in honor of the heir to the British throne. Even now, as the dancing season is barely on the verge of beginning, the steps and figures are being gracefully done by devotees of dancing. It is predicted that before the Winter is over the dance named for the agile-ankled Prince will be more popular than any ever introduced here, and possibly in England as well, where the young man who inherited leadership of the "young court set" is maintaining his reputation as a tripper.

That he is maintaining his reputation and adding to it, perhaps, is the assurance brought by Paul Whiteman, the American orchestra leader, who, with his band, has spent the Summer in England.

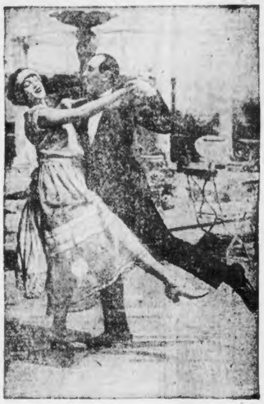
The Whiteman outfit invaded London to appear in a review at the Hippodrome. But immediately afterward any seasoned American at large in the English metropolis would have thought, from the nightly itinerary of the Prince, that the orchestra members were his own private personnel, royal musicians—a "fiddlers three" of sorts to a modern King Cole. For everywhere that Whiteman went the Prince was sure to go.

First of all, the Prince was rather responsible for Whiteman and his orchestra landing at Southampton. Immediately a protest was registered by the English Musicians' Union against the importation of rival Americans. Then the Prince of Wales exerted himself, and a permit was issued allowing the band to land—and this was the first time in his royal life that the Prince ever had exercised this royal prerogative.

Almost as soon as Whiteman landed British society began to invite him into the most exclusive and fashionable homes of the nation.

The first week Whiteman was in London he played at four gay parties at which the Prince was conspicuous for his fox-trotting! At this time Grafton Galleries never had been of a character to attract royalty. But when Whiteman began to play there after the theatre the Prince likewise appeared nightly, always growing more expert in the hesitations and ankle gyrations and syncopated beats that make up the performance of the modern jazz dancer.

Now that the orchestra leader and his company have returned, it is announced that Edward Albert is planning a trip to Canada. Certain members of British society declare he is about to visit the "Lady of the Snows" on a wife hunt. But others, smiling discreetly, predict that he will not long remain north of the frontier line. In fancy, they see him about New York and other American cities tripping the "Prince of Wales Fox Trot" as only an expert can.



Mimi Palmeri and Arthur Murray Illustrate the Sixth Count in the First Step of the Prince of Wales Fox Trot.

COMBINATION No. 1.

Man's Part.

Begin with the left foot, going forward, and take three slow walking steps, l. f. 1, r. f. 2, l. f. 3. On the fourth count extend the right foot in front, lifting it two inches off the floor, pointing toes downward. On the fifth count take a long step backward on the right foot. On count six extend the left foot as far backward as it will go, lifting it slightly off the floor. Take two slow walking steps forward, l. f. 7, r. f. 8. Repeat entire movement.

Lady's Part.

The lady's part is opposite to that of the man's. She begins with her right foot and takes three long, slow walking steps backward, r. f. 1, l. f. 2, r. f. 3. 4. Extend backward, r. f. 1, l. f. 2, r. f. 3 4. Extend left foot as far back as it will go, lifting it two inches off the floor, toes pointing downward. 5. Take a long step forward on left foot. 6. Extend right foot as far forward as possible, lifting it slightly off the floor. 7 and 8. Take two long steps backward, r. f. 7, l. f. 8. Repeat entire movement.

COMBINATION No. 2.

This movement is one of the most delightful in the Fox Trot and is extremely popular.

Man's Part.

Begin with the left foot and take a long, slow walking step directly forward. 2. Take a long, quick step forward on right foot. 3. Quickly draw left foot up to right, heels together. (So far you have taken three steps. The first one is a slow step while the second and third are done quickly. 4. Take a long step forward on right foot and hold the weight on this foot for two counts while you extend left foot in front.

Lady's Part.

1. Begin with right foot and take a long, slow step directly backward. 2. Quickly step backward on left foot. 3. Draw right foot up to left quickly, with weight on right and heels together. 4. Take a long, slow step backward on left foot and hold weight there for two counts while you extend right foot backward, lifting it about two inches off floor. Repeat entire movement.

COMBINATION No. 3.

Man's Part.

This turn, which is one of the most effective steps in the Fox Trot, consists of a waltz step (used in making the left turn) and one slow step backward with the right foot. Beginning with left foot, step forward, turning to left (waltz turn to left). This waltz movement takes three steps, and during these three steps you should make a half turn. Count 1, 2, 3. 4. Take a long step backward on right foot, holding the weight on this foot for two counts while you lift the foot slightly off the floor. Repeat entire movement.

Note—In order to make a half turn on one waltz step of three counts it is necessary to turn very sharply on each step. At the completion of the third step your back should be toward the line of direction.

Note that in all waltz steps done to Fox Trot music the first step of the waltz is a slow one while the second and third steps are done quickly.

Lady's Part.

Stand with your heels together, your back toward line of direction. Beginning with the right foot, step backward and do one waltz step of three counts. Then step forward on the left, and as you hold weight on this foot for two full counts raise the right foot slightly up at the back. Repeat the entire movement. Note that in all waltz steps done to Fox Trot music the first step of the waltz is a slow one while the second and third steps are done quickly. It is not necessary for the girl to practice the waltz turns. She need only practice the waltz steps going backward. If she can waltz backward with ease she will have no difficulty in following her partner in waltz turns.

COMBINATION No. 4.

Man's Part.

1. Take a long, slow step forward on left foot and hold weight on this foot for two full counts, at the same time, extend the right foot in front, lifting it about two inches from floor. 2. Step forward quickly on right foot. 3. Take a long, quick step forward on left foot. 4. Quickly draw right foot up to left, heels together, and pause a half second with weight on right foot. Repeat the entire movement.

Lady's Part.

1. Begin with right foot and take a long, slow step directly backward, holding weight on right foot two full counts, at the same time lift left foot up at back about two inches off the floor. 2. Step backward quickly on left foot. 3. Step backward quickly on right foot. 4. Quickly draw left foot up to right, heels together, and pause a half second with weight on left foot. Repeat the entire movement.

Just Movie Madness

By Lisle Bell

THE ambitious young man who wants to do something big and clean might open a laundry for movie screens.

So far this month no actress has reported the theft of her jewelry.

The first time in her life that an actress reveals her own age is when it is chiseled on her tombstone.

Watching the fashionably dressed women as they parade down the aisle is just one double chin after another.

Up until about 1900 women wore their hats in a theatre. Now lots of them don't even wear their hair.

Our Own Censor.

Cut out scene where woman kisses wrong man. No woman is that careless.

Cut out scene of married woman in Paris gown. Too much of the Paris gown has been cut out already.

Cut out all drinking scenes. They have a tendency to make the audience restless.

Cut out all close-ups of heroines in tears. They destroy the illusion.

Cut out scene where husband kisses wife. There is no marriage certificate on the wall, and these scenes are apt to have a wrong influence on the young.

It is predicted that school children will soon be instructed by motion picture instead of by textbooks. Teacher will sit in a fireproof sheet metal booth and reel off the education to the kids.

Instead of a course in botany there will be one of those movies showing a lily unfolding at the rate of a mile a minute.

Instead of a course in grammar there will be a course in subtitles, and instead of recess intermission.

DO YOU KNOW THE FUNDAMENTALS?

If you don't know, keep still and listen—and learn.

It is better to be known as a silent person than one who talks about unfamiliar subjects.

Many persons make a mistake in their efforts to be congenial and pleasing to certain persons they meet.

A humorous lecturer or writer is amused by the efforts of those who try to be funny—and many persons belong to the class of would-be "funnies."

A person who is well-informed on a certain subject is quite likely to ridicule the person who endeavors to display familiarity with facts which he knows so little about about, in comparison.

Do you know of any subject upon which you could converse instructively for an hour?

Supposing an expert should ask you a number of questions about the line of work in which you are engaged, could you answer them?

How about the fundamentals of your line?

Is your knowledge superficial?
